Political update on fall elections

Bits from local politicians

Reporter Don Staruk compiled this update on the activities and thoughts of candidates running for offices that will affect Andover residents.

Rep. Atkins supports Freedom of Choice Act

In an open letter to his constituents, U. S. Rep. Chester Atkins, D-Concord, last week vowed to fight for approval of the Freedom of Choice Act, the proposal in Congress to make a woman's right to an abortion the law.

"On June 29, the Supreme Court came down with its much-awaited decision on the Pennsylvania law restricting access to abortions. While the court specifically chose to retain a right to choice provided in Roe v. Wade, it did so only by the close vote of 5 to 4. Alarming, the court upheld all but one of the restrictions in Pennsylvania's law. Among those the court let stand were a 24-hour waiting period and requirements that a woman be provided certain information

For the 1992-'93 school year:

Supt. McQuillan lists priorities

By Lisa Boudreau

Fostering community participation in the schools, improving the school buildings and promoting pride and tolerance of other's differences are some of the goals Superintendent Mark McQuillan outlined in his action plan for the 1992-1993 school year. Dr. McQuillan presented a draft of the plan to the School Committee at its meeting Tuesday night.

"Overall this is a very ambitious plan and I wonder if I'm going to get it all done. With the presence of an assistant superintendent (to be hired July 21), I think I can get most of it accomplished," Dr. McQuillan told the committee.

Found: Andover's Boston Cane

By Betsy Frankenberger

Andover's Boston Post Cane has been found.

Two references were made to the cane in last week's issue of the Townsmen. The cane was described as "absent" and "non-existent." The quest to locate the cryptic cane, which for decades was given to the oldest person in town (a New England tradition), inspired Townsmen staff members to research its history.

The level of curiosity grew increasingly stronger after some town officials declared that no such cane had been given to an Andover citizen in the past five decades. But Barbara Thibault, director of education at of the Andover Historical Society, had the answer.

"We were transferring our files on to acid-free paper...and look what turned up," she

English is his second language

By Betsy Frankenberger

When Bill Huston, of Garfield Lane West, began last March to give his first campaign speech when running for School Committee, he asked the audience to bear with him if he used the wrong words here and there.

"English isn't my first language," he explained.

"Language is crucial in order to develop identity and more complex ideas," according to Mr. Huston, whose occupations include professor and coordinator of deaf studies at Northern Essex Community College, nationally certified interpreter, rehabilitation counselor and Andover School Committee member.

Born on a farm in Yoder, Ind., to a family that included approximately 37 deaf relatives, Mr. Huston first discovered that the majority of the world used verbal language when he entered kindergarten. Until then, he communicated with his hands.

"My early childhood was a bilingual and bicultural experience," he said.

Mr. Huston's mother, who was deaf, taught her son to read English through the use of American Sign Language. He associated hand signing with written words, and he was in kindergarten when he learned to articulate signs.

His mother would show him a magazine picture of milk, for example, and then she would sign, "milk."

After that, he gestured out movements of the word, "milk."

Today, husband to Marcia Huston, an occupational therapist who is fluent in American Sign Language, and father to Emily, 9, and Kara, 7, both also knowledgeable of ASL, Mr. Huston wishes that the beauty of deaf culture would be recognized in more classrooms.

"We need comparative cultural studies to develop insight of other people," said Mr. Huston. "It's a good idea to expose (students) to other languages besides the ones spoken."

Mr. Huston briefly explained the history of deaf culture, commenting on the fact that it was not until 1965 that ASL was recognized as an official language. Deaf culture's slow evolution began with an early religious belief that the deaf were "damned," he said, because "they could not hear or speak the words of God."

"ASL is a language that is just as complex, powerful, rich and emotional as any other language...my eyes and hands are as important to me as my ears and mouth," said Mr. Huston.

Here in Massachusetts, said Mr. Huston, ASL was first allowed in schools in 1971, and it took 10 years before deaf teachers were allowed to educate deaf students. Northern Essex Community College was the first school in this state to offer ASL as an elective, as well as a component to the curriculum that would satisfy the foreign language and/or human studies requirement.

Mr. Huston would like to see a similar procedure happen at Andover High School.

"Superintendent Mark McQuillan loves the idea of incorporating ASL and deaf culture into (Andover High's) curriculum," Mr. Huston said.

Andover, according to Mr. Huston, is a "progressive community constantly struggling with the process of growth." He thinks that the possibility of ASL and deaf culture entering the world of the classroom will "depend on how enlightened our community is."

However, Mr. Huston realizes that due to a tight economy, Andover schools may not provide for an addition to the foreign language department at this time.

"The majority of citizens understand the significance of other languages...I think we are ready to realize how valuable multiculturalism is."

Mr. Huston learns more about culture each day by interpreting plays for deaf audiences at places such as the Boston Shakespeare Company and the Trinity Repertory Theatre. He says that Shakespeare in particular helps to invent "the artist in all of us." In illuminating plays such as King Lear or The Tempest (or even Christmas carols for children), Mr. Huston finds it "challenging to take the concepts of one language and create a vehicle to convey the same idea successfully." He describes the result as a multi-sensory experience for the audience.

(Interpreting) "really helps me to appreciate the complexity of the artist," he said. "It's one of the greatest pleasures for me."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Club denied earth removal

By Don Staruk

The Planning Board two weeks ago turned down a request by Yvon Cormier, owner of the Andover Country Club, for a special permit to remove 8,600 truck loads of dirt from a hillside for a 20-lot subdivision off Canterbury Road.

At a public hearing June 23, the board also refused to modify the original subdivision plan, approved in 1980, because it called for on-site septic systems rather than connection to town sewer as in the original plan.

Members of the board had concerns with the stability of the remaining slope after the material had been removed, and with the magnitude of the hauling operations.

The latest plan for section three of the Andover Country Club's seven-section subdivision called for removal of 129,000 cubic yards of earth material from the site, according to Stephen Colyer, planning director. That's about 8,600 15-cubic-yard truck loads.

Although the amount of dirt to be removed is less than the 183,000 cubic yards that were to be removed under the original plan, a special permit is necessary because 1980 Town Meeting passed a zoning bylaw prohibiting removal of gravel from residential zones without one. And the time that has passed since the initial approval has voided any "grandfathering" the property might have had, according to the planning director.

"In my opinion, he's lost the eight years zoning protection because he didn't develop a thing," Mr. Colyer said.

The material Mr. Cormier wants to remove consists of some gravel, but mostly sand, according to Mr. Colyer. Mr. Colyer said 39,000 cubic yards of material has already been removed from the site since 1980 "without benefit of any permits."

Approval of a special permit requires that "the grading shown on the plan represents the best feasible use of the existing topography of the land," Mr. Collier said. The board decided that the proposal to remove 100 feet of elevation did not satisfy that requirement, he said.

Mr. Cormier has not yet submitted an alternative plan for the board to consider.

Town taxes are due Aug. 3

The town of Andover has mailed tax bills for the first quarter of Fiscal Year 1993. The bills are due Monday, Aug. 3.

Taxes unpaid after that date are subject to interest charges of 14 percent. The town offices at 36 Bartlet St. are open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The tax collectors' office will be open Mondays, July 27, and Aug. 3, from 6 to 8 p.m. Tax payments can also be left in the white mailbox with the blue Town of Andover seal in the front of town offices on Bartlet Street. If mailed, use the envelopes provided and do not fold the bill.

Anyone who has not received a bill or has any questions should call 470-3800.

Officials plan to hire asst. supt.

By Lisa Boudreau

The superintendent and the School Committee plan to hire an assistant superintendent at the committee's next meeting, Thursday, July 21, despite requests by the teachers' union to investigate restructuring the administration to eliminate the assistant superintendent position.

By the end of this week Superintendent Mark McQuillan will screen the 75 applicants and narrow the field to approximately a dozen semi-finalists. Those resumes will go to a volunteer screening committee that will take a week to further narrow the field and interview candidates.

On Monday, July 20, Dr. McQuillan and the School Committee will interview finalists in public session starting at 6 p.m. in the school administration building on Whittier Court.

Buses still available

In other news from the schools, even though the deadline to reserve a seat on the buses for secondary students has passed, there are seats available on most routes and the school administration is still accepting applications. The fee is $210 and is applicable for students in grades seven and above who wish to ride the bus to school.

By law communities are only required to pay for busing children in the lower grades. So far the transportation department has received $88,000 of the $133,000 pledged in fees. The deadline to pay the fee is July 15.

According to Frank Paul, the school's business manager, the town will need to raise $175,000 to make the program run cost free to the town.

"As of (Tuesday), we received 28 more applications. If we continue to get requests at that pace for the next seven days then we should meet our goal. If not then we will be back with

Help is for teens who have loss

A support group for teen-agers who have lost a loved one will be held Monday, July 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Universalist Church, at 6 Locke St.

Correction

Due to incorrect information sent to the Townsmen, in a June 11 article called "Six nurses honored with recognition awards," one of the nurses, Sally-Ann Milne of Andover, was incorrectly listed as being a nurse manager at Holy Family Hospital in Methuen. Ms. Milne used to work at Holy Family Hospital, but she is now a nurse manager for oncology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Lowell.

Supt. lists priorities

His five goals are:

- Engage the community, citizens and town officials in a close working relationship with the schools.

- Develop a maintenance and inspection system to ensure clean, safe, well-maintained schools.

- Establish a monitoring and feedback mechanism for the school department and its personnel.

- Implement the six-year curriculum renewal plan.

- Create a systemwide program to foster self-esteem and respect for the ethnic, racial and other differences in the Andover schools and community.

Dr. McQuillan has enlisted the help of the Andover Chamber of Commerce and hopes to form a townwide Parent Teacher Organization to enlarge community participation in the schools.

He also plans to hold open office hours on Thursday nights during the school year from 4:30 to 6 and from 7 to 8 p.m. by appointment.

Mold buildup at West Elementary that closed the school last winter, poor air quality at Bancroft Elementary, a chemical spill in the science storage room that closed the high school and

'Overall this is a very ambitious plan and I wonder if I'm going to get it all done.'

long-standing maintenance concerns at West Middle School prompted the superintendent and the School Committee to include a revised capital improvement plan for at least the next two school years.

The plan includes asking voters at town meeting next April to borrow money to address these concerns. Because of the problems in the schools this past year, the superintendent said he will work with public safety officials and principals to come up with a contingency plan for each building in case of future emergencies.

The School Committee will make formal recommendations for additions and deletions to the superintendent's action plan at its next meeting, Tuesday, July 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the school office building on Whittier Court.

contingency plans," said Mr. Paul, who did not elaborate on what plans he had in mind.

In other School Committee business, the board approved recommendations for building specifications for the school addition and/or renovation projects planned to add 450 additional spaces at the elementary level. The administration hired John Calabro, formerly the director of the state's School Building Assistance Bureau, who is now a private consultant.

Dr. Calabro's specifications for two building addition alternatives, one at each South and Sanborn elementary schools and the other at the school administration building, would add the desired number of spaces to the system, meet legal requirements that each school system must face before changing municipal buildings and make Andover eligible for SBAB reimbursement once the project is completed. The committee hopes to have the additional classroom ready for school year 1994-1995.

Some of the suggestions Dr. Calabro brought to the committee include complete electrical foundations that could be used to update computer systems in the future, as well as install showers in the schools so that the buildings could be used more often by the community.

Donations from local business that were in the "four figure" category, as well as nickels and dimes dropped in the jars around town paid for the $10,500-worth of fireworks that were shot off at the Andover High School football field last Sunday night. The display was delayed 24 hours because of rain.

The biggest contributors, according to Selectman Jerry Silverman, the town's unofficial fireworks marshal, were Brickstone, Marshalls and First Eastern Mortgage Copr.

"There were also quite a few people who gave anywhere from $200 to $400," Mr. Silverman said.

The company that put on the display was Atlas Pyrotechnics of Jaffrey, N.H., Mr. Silverman said.

Seattle, Wash., on June 8 and should put her in Asbury Park, N.J., on July 25. Ms. Chechik, on July 2, sent the Townsmen an update of her trip from Alexandria, Minn.

"As promised, here's a little update from the road (I had meant to get this to you earlier but, not surprisingly, I haven't had a lot of spare time).

"Yesterday we reached our halfway point of the trip and to date we are at about 1,720 miles. I am having a wonderful time and the people I've met are great. The riding is very challenging at times but we've all gotten a lot stronger. Now anything less than 80 miles seems like a short day. We just completed three back-to-back centuries (100-mile days), one of which had headwinds, pouring rain, thunder and lightning. After a day like that, though, you feel like you can do anything.

"Most days we are up by 5 or 5:30 and on the road by 7. There are some people who are ready for bed shortly after dinner while others are up until 10. We've met a lot of great people in the towns we visit, too. In Page, N.D., it was pouring rain and a woman in town invited us to her house to dry out clothes in her dryer. In New Town, N.D., we stayed at an Indian Reservation and some people from part of the Sioux tribe came and danced some of their native dances for us.

"I've been gone so long that it's hard to imagine a life beyond cycling. I'm already thinking about what my next long-distance cycling event will be.

"Well, I'm running out of space so this is it."

Ricky Saggese Jr., the former Andover youth whose family moved to Florida so he could play baseball year round and whose father died this past March after being struck in the head with a baseball, will return to Boston this August in a Seattle Mariners baseball uniform.

Bob Saggese, of Billerica, Ricky's uncle, said this week that the Mariners will fly Ricky up from Florida to suit up with them for their series against the Boston Red Sox in Fenway Park on Aug. 21, 22 and 23. The young Saggese, who will start his junior year in high school in Naples, Fla., this fall, will participate in batting practice, suit up and be on the bench for the game, and stay with the team at their hotel.

Two teams have contacted Ricky, according to his uncle, the San Francisco Giants and Seattle, but only Seattle has followed up. Although professional teams can't formally solicit Ricky yet, according to his uncle, they are showing some interest.

Ricky has also been looking at college scholarship offers, his uncle said.

Ricky's father, Rick Sr., a baseball enthusiast, died March 19 one day after being struck in the head by a batted ball while pitching to another member of his son's team in a batting cage.

Oh, say, did you hear? Robert Edwards, of 4 Morton St., is going to sing the national anthem Sunday, July 26, when the Boston Red Sox host the Minnesota Twins at Fenway Park.

"I've never even been to Fenway," he said. "To sing the national anthem the first time at Fenway is kind of special I think."

Mr. Edwards, the associate dean of admissions at Phillips Academy and recruitment director of people of color, said he has never even been a real baseball fan, a fact that some might consider a blessing in these parts. "But I'm growing to be a Red Sox fan," he said. His father, a lifetime hardball lover, "is ecstatic about it."

Mr. Edwards is on the advisory board for the Roxbury/Dorchester branch of the Big Brothers organization. In an effort to reach out to surrounding communities, and to promote community organizations, the Red Sox have made the 26th a kind of Big Brothers day at the ballpark.

"They had decided that it would be a great opportunity to have a member of the Big Brothers organization sing," said Mr. Edwards.

As the board was trying to decide who it could get to croon, one of the members recalled

'I was very honored by that, considering the others were really singers.'

Bob Edwards, who is singing at a Red Sox game this month something about Mr. Edwards' past.

"I didn't volunteer. I didn't even say anything," explained Mr. Edwards. "One of the board members remembered that I used to sing."

Although he has had no formal training, Mr. Edwards was involved in several plays and has performed at weddings and other functions. His was one of four tapes sent to the Red Sox from which their organization was to choose. His, of course, was the one ultimately chosen.

"I was very honored by that," he said, "considering the others were really singers."

"It's a God-given gift, really, I think I inherited it from my father."

Mr. Edwards will receive a pair of complementary tickets to watch the Olde Town Team try to stop Kirby and his Minnesota pals. But everything about this day isn't perfect. The Red Sox warned him to get there early. Otherwise, they said, he might have trouble finding a parking space.

"Reality had set in," he said. So in some ways, Mr. Edwards' initiation to Fenway will be just like everyone else's.

She currently serves as a member of the National Relocation and Certification Committee. When asked how this has attributed to her success, she replied, "In addition to keeping me abreast of this ever changing industry, they have enabled me to make contacts with other top producers, build a very strong referral network and create a good working relationship with Realtors, not only locally, but throughout the country. All of which give me training to better serve my clients."

Joseph McManus

In presenting the award, Richard Berkman, president of Health Care Management Association, cited Mr. McManus' role in leading Lawrence General from serious financial difficulties to consistent profitability.

Kenneth P. Fallon III

Kenneth P. Fallon III, a Quincy native with more than 25 years experience in the medical products field and a resident of North Andover, has left Zimmer Inc. of Warsaw, Ind., a unit of Bristol Myers Squibb Inc., to steer the growth of American Surgical Technologies Corp. as the company's new president and chief executive officer.

Kenneth P. Fallon III

Established in December 1991 and headquartered in Haverhill, American Surgical Technologies is developing, and plans to manufacture and market, the first three-dimensional video-imaging system for use in the minimally invasive surgery (MIS) market.

"I'm confident that ASTC's new 3-D video system will soon become the standard for minimally invasive surgery," Mr. Fallon said.

"We're currently witnessing a significant change in surgical procedures, with more and more surgeons using endoscopic and laparoscopic techniques. A need exists for improved visualization during these minimally invasive procedures, principally depth perception currently unavailable with conventional 2-D video systems."

Mr. Fallon said his company's 3-D technology will provide surgeons with "real depth perception" during surgical procedures.

Kenneth P. Fallon in the news

"ASTC's imaging products are ideally positioned to answer the burgeoning demand of the MIS market."

Prior to joining ASTC in May 1992, Mr. Fallon was president of U.S. operations for Zimmer Inc., a firm in the orthopedic products industry. During his nine-year tenure, Mr. Fallon successfully introduced new products and technologies, significantly increasing the firm's U.S. market share to number one positions in the prosthetic hip and knee implant markets.

Mr. Fallon's interest in orthopedic did not begin at Zimmer. During his 15 years at Johnson & Johnson, he cultivated his life-long fascination with the medical products industry. At Ethicon Inc., a Johnson & Johnson Co., he became known as a top producer within the sales division and played an instrumental role in creating J & J's Cintor Division, an orthopedics products group which became J & J Orthopedics.

"We're honored to have someone of Ken's stature leading American Surgical Technologies Corporation," said Gerald I. Brecher, founder and chairman of ASTC. "His decision to leave Zimmer to head up our high-tech start-up company is a real validation of our technology and its potential impact on the surgical market. Ken's entrepreneurial spirit, management experience and marketing expertise are a welcome addition to our firm."

Mr. Fallon holds a bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Massachusetts and an master of business administration from Northeastern University.

Found: Boston Cane

said, as she handed over a packet of information, titled "The Boston Post Cane."

The information proved that the last person to hold the cane was Albert Kimball (born 1855), of Lowell Street. It was presented to him on Oct. 28, 1949.

Town Clerk Randy Hanson was contacted in order to find out what year Mr. Kimball died. After a brief explanation as to why the Townsmen was interested in this man's journey through life (he died in 1952), Ms. Hanson said, "Hold on a minute... I think we have the cane right here in our office." And there it was.

The cane was first presented in this town to Benjamin Franklin Wardwell in 1909. In August of that year, a letter was received by the selectmen of Andover, written by E.A. Grozier, Esq., editor and publisher of the Boston Post from 1891-1924.

A Dec. 8, 1933 issue of the Townsmen printed the following excerpt from Mr. Grozier's letter:

"The idea is that the cane shall always be owned and carried by the oldest citizen of your town, and that upon the decease of the present oldest citizen it shall be duly transmitted to the then oldest citizen, remaining always in the possession of whoever is the oldest citizen of your town. Upon the head of the cane a blank space has been left where the name of the owner may be engraved locally if desired.

"The cane is a splendid specimen... made by J.F. Fradley &

Co. of New York, who are widely recognized as the leading manufacturers of fine canes.

"The gold in the heads of the Post canes is of 14 karat fineness.

"It is designed for everyday usage and will last for many years."

The cane is made of ebony. Ms. Hansen said she tried to read the inscription on it, but it was too worn to read.

Though it may seem as if the cane went unnoticed for several years in Andover, Selectman Bill Downs "followed its whereabouts for a number of years." He told the Townsmen that the cane has been in the clerk's office for more than 20 years, and "when the holders passed away, the cane would get lost, which is why it ended up there."

Mr. Downs has strong feelings about carrying on the cane tradition. A resident of Andover for 65 years, Mr. Downs believes that natives have "a lot of pride in living here," and he would like to see the oldest Andover resident to be recognized each year on Founder's Day, May 6.

Mr. Downs suggested that the cane be kept safe in the town clerk's office, to avoid it getting lost in the shuffle.

"Plans are being made," he said.

He would like to see the names of the oldest citizens in Andover be printed on a plaque to be kept in the town clerk's office. Currently, there are no immediate plans to make an award of the cane to a local citizen.

POISE software users meet at Merrimack College

More than 350 participants from the United States and Canada gathered at Merrimack College June 7-10 for the annual International POISE-Users Meeting.

Operating on Digital Equipment Corp.'s platform of VAX computers, POISE, which stands for People-Oriented Information Systems for Education, offers administrative, instructional and library software systems for education.

In recognition of hosting the meetings, Merrimack, which has used

POISE for four years, was granted $1,000 for scholarships by Campus America, the Knoxville, Tenn.-based company that developed POISE.

The sessions were geared to educators, administrators and librarians who participated in seminars, demonstrations and panel discussions moderated by Campus America and Digital personnel.

The meeting featured workshops by Digital Equipment on various topics, including "Information Access Breakthroughs in the 1990s."

Highlights of the week included a tour of the Garfield Magnet School in Revere, which has been featured internationally as a "Technology School of the Future"; a luncheon address by Richard Kesner, chief information officer of Babson College; and a tour of Digital's Alpha facility in Hudson.

Merrimack has used POISE since 1988 for admissions, financial aid, registration, academic advising and student billing, according to the college.

Sinead Cassidy of Andover, left, was recently awarded a McDonald's Crew Scholarship from Beth Curtin, manager of the McDonald's restaurant in Andover. The scholarships were awarded at a ceremony at Boston University. McDonald's Owner-Operators of Eastern New England awarded 100 $500 scholarships to deserving employees, enabling them to further their education at two- and four-year colleges and universities, as well as vocational schools. During the past 10 years, McDonald's Crew Scholarship Program has awarded more than $500,000 to employees who have demonstrated hard work and dedication at school and on the job, they reported.

Your Dental HEALTH

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

COVERING THE GRAY

Because amalgam fillings are so durable, it is seldom necessary to replace them because of failure. However, it may happen that a silver amalgam filling will cause a diffusion of a gray mineral stain in the surrounding enamel. Such a stain may result from a slight corrosion of the amalgam material due to chemical reactions in the mouth. If the staining is deemed to be unsightly, the filling may be replaced with a slightly-enlarged filling in a liner that minimizes further stain penetration. Otherwise, the amalgam may be replaced with a cast metal inlay or a tooth-colored composite filling. Both alternatives may be considered to be more aesthetically pleasing, although more expensive, than silver amalgam.

I'll be happy to discuss the options available to keep your smile a bright and happy one. I believe in an informed patient, and look forward to providing you with information regarding all aspects of your dental hygiene. For compassionate, state-of-the-art dental care for all members of your family, I invite you to call 475-2431. New patients are always welcome here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93, where office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, and by appointment. P.S. The treatment of amalgam-induced stains is largely restricted to the front teeth, from the incisors to the premolars.

Joan Maglio came to New England Memorial Hospital to undergo a gynecological procedure that would treat her barely detectable but dangerous precancerous lesion. She was surprised and pleased at how quickly she was able to leave the hospital and return home.

While Joan's procedure was major, it was not surgery in the conventional sense of the word. Her hysterectomy was done vaginally with the aid of advanced laparoscopic techniques. Dr. Daniel Feinn, Joan's skilled gynecological surgeon, successfully performed the exacting procedure with no large incisions, no post-operative complications, and little, if any, pain. Joan was up and around in two days, and back to herself in no time.

Joan Maglio speaks very highly of the excellent treatment she received from the caring, concerned staff at New England Memorial Hospital. But, thanks to Dr. Feinn, she didn't have much time to get used to it.

Phillips summer session turns 50 this year

Students meet and mingle in the warm sunshine of summer session.

In a summer that marked President George Bush's 50th Phillips Academy class reunion, the school's summer session embarked last week on its 50th anniversary. Private, public and parochial school students and faculty from Boston to Brazil are being welcomed to Andover for this year's July 2-Aug. 12 session.

Seven hundred and fifty students from 41 states and Puerto Rico and 30 foreign countries are enrolled in Phillips's six-week academic and personal enrichment program. The more than 500 students taking traditional academic courses, such as economics, international relations and physics, are sharing the campus with people participating in several innovative programs, including the Andover Bread Loaf Writing Workshop; The Andover-Dartmouth Urban Math Teachers Institute; (MS)* or Math and Science for Minority Students; the Institute for the Recruitment of Teachers; and PALS, the Phillips Academy-Leonard Elementary School (Lawrence) Partnership.

Again this year, 10 South African teachers are on campus to exchange ideas about teaching methods with American inner-city instructors as they take part in the South African-Andover Bread Loaf Writing Workshop. Growing out of the annual Bread Loaf Writing Workshop, the South African project was initiated last summer.

Students matriculating in the traditional academic session have filled more than 30 major courses from the science, mathemat-

Barbecue celebrates partnership

Genetics Institute held a Texas-style barbecue at the Andover Country Club June 23 to present awards and acknowledge the ongoing partnership between the Andover school system and Genetics Institute.

Lyn Kim, a graduating senior from Andover High School, was the first recipient of the Genetics Institute Science scholarship. She will major in molecular biology and biochemistry at Brown University in the fall. Ms. Kim is working at Genetics Institute this summer.

David Goodwin, a Genetics Institute of Cambridge employee, was presented with the first Genetics Institute Community Service Award for his work in Sanborn Elementary School. He was the driving force behind establishment of an enrichment program for second- to fifth-graders, according to the company.

The awards were presented by Peter Lasky of the Genetics Institute of Andover.

The Andover Schools/Genetics Institute partnership was established to develop a positive relationship within the community, as well as to address concerns about the growing national problem of declining scientific literacy.

This partnership is focused on making Genetics Institute's specialized knowledge, highly trained personnel, equipment and facilities more accessible to educators, according to the institute.

ics, language, writing and fine arts disciplines, and more than 30 minor courses covering the arts and sciences. Special workshops in oceanography, intensive writing, intensive studio art, and English as a Second Language round out the curriculum.

On weekends, participants will enjoy some favorite New England pastimes: whale watches, beach excursions, Red Sox games and Tanglewood. The annual summer college fair will host recruiters representing nearly 100 colleges.

"Conceived in response to a national crisis (World War II, 1942), the Andover Summer Session is, 50 years later, yearly reconceiving itself in response to national crises. The academic standards are high, the rules are strict, but the faculty, teaching assistants and staff are committed to serving each student and to making the summer session a place of learning and of joy," said Director Elwin Sykes.

Mr. Sykes joined the PA faculty in 1973 and is an instructor of English and athletics coach. He directed the (MS) Program for several years prior to being appointed summer session director in 1989.

LOOKING AT OPEN HOUSES

Going to an "open house" can be a good way to begin your househunting effort. It gives you relatively easy access to many houses, as well as offering you the opportunity to explore different neighborhoods in which you might choose to live.

Most open houses are held on weekends, especially on Sunday afternoons. You may find them advertised in the local newspaper or see signs pointing to the properties that are on display. It's best to plan your outing using a good map and the Sunday classified section. Next, plan your itinerary, noting where the promising homes are located and the hours that they'll be shown. Don't forget to bring your note pad. It'll come in handy in remembering the special features of each of the homes you'll be viewing.

If you don't find the perfect home through open house viewing, our real estate agents can show you other choice properties. Remember, many of the best homes won't be on the market long enough to be an "open house."

If you are considering a move, contact the professionals at Century 21 Minuteman Realty. Call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 2 Elm Square.

Junior Theatre rewards three seniors

The Merrimack Junior Theatre, an active children's theater serving the greater Merrimack Valley, has selected three graduating seniors as scholarship recipients. To qualify, recipients must demonstrate ongoing commitment to the Merrimack Junior Theatre by giving of their time and talent.

This year's recipients include Tim Plankey and Nathan Walker of Andover and Eileen Geddes of Lawrence. All three have been involved in children's theater since grade school. They have participated in many productions in a wide range of capacities including starring roles, stage crew, lighting and set design. ## Two local students inducted into honor society at Merrimack

Two local students were part of a group of twenty-four in the division of continuing education at Merrimack College inducted into the Beta Iota chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, a national honor society.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

SOURCE OF IRRITATION

The intervertebral discs do an admirable job of separating the stack of bones that make up the spine. Comprised of 70 percent of water, these mini "shock absorbers" help diffuse much of the force that seeks to compress the spine. However, by the time we reach our mid-to-late 20's, the discs begin to lose their water content and become harder. This fact, coupled with years of accumulated strain and weakening muscles, sets up a greater likelihood for back trouble. Herniated discs ("ruptured" discs) are sometimes cited as the sources of back pain, but less serious bulging of discs is more common. As discs bulge, they may irritate nerve roots as they emerge from the spine. The chiropractor seeks to diminish this effect by properly aligning the spine.

If you are experiencing pain in any area of your back, neck or shoulders don't hesitate to see your chiropractor. A check-up today can help prevent problems in the future. For an appointment, please call DELORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, 475-5042. We offer natural and safe care for the entire family. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Desk-bound workers are at increased risk for herniated discs.

Desmond calls for change in tax structure

John J. Desmond, who is a candidate for State Representative in Andover and South Lawrence, is calling for a change in the tax structure here in Massachusetts. Desmond, who taught courses in government for years in the Billerica school system, says that the present system of taxation is unfair to both the average individual taxpayer and the business community. "We're giving away business, jobs and revenue to New Hampshire," said Desmond.

Desmond asked everyone to "think of how Massachusetts would profit if we could get back all of the business that goes over the border to New Hampshire. Think of the new jobs that would be needed here in the commonwealth in order to accommodate all of that new commerce. Now think of the added business that would be generated if the people were given a 5% increase in buying power. How do we accomplish all of this? By phasing out the Massachusetts sales tax. This is an economically destructive method of taxation; it robs people of money that could either be invested or saved or spent in stores and shops and small businesses throughout the commonwealth; it puts our own business community at a disadvantage when competing with businesses of New Hampshire. It is time to get rid of the Massachusetts sales tax; it is a tax that is contributing to the economic stagnation of our state."

Desmond went on to say that "the phasing out of the sales tax must be accompanied, however, with a change in the income tax. Currently, taxpayers in Massachusetts are taxed in a flat rate with many deductions. While this may seem fair on the surface, it is not, because the deductions allow individuals and corporations in the higher income levels to write off much of their income and, therefore, to pay less in taxes, and the people on the lower income scale pay very little in taxes in the first place, this leaves the brunt of taxation on the backs of the working class. It is time for a system that is more equitable. We should establish a progressive income tax system and eliminate the vast majority of deductions. The percentage of income that is taxed should be based on the income level of the taxpayer. People of lower income could pay at a rate of 3%, middle income at a rate of 6%, and the upper income levels at a rate of 10%. With the removal of most deductions, each level will be more likely to pay their fair share of taxes."

'This is an economically destructive method of taxation; it robs people of money that could either be invested or saved or spent in stores and shops and small businesses throughout the commonwealth; it puts our own business community at a disadvantage when competing with businesses of New Hampshire.'

"It is with this combination of changes," said Desmond, "that state revenues will be generated from more appropriate sources. Right now the majority of state revenues are coming primarily from an inequitable tax on incomes and from the pockets of consumers, who have to pay a sales tax that is over and above the cost of the item that they are purchasing. The working men and women of our middle class are paying the lion's share of the bills. This is simply not fair."

Summer is perfect time to discover historic Andover

By Virginia Lopez Begg

The long lazy days of summer are the perfect time to get acquainted with historic Andover, and the best place to start is the Andover Historical Society. The society's calendar is brimming with programs and events for people of every age.

This is a very special year for Andover. The town is commemorating the 300th anniversary of the witchcraft episode that darkened the community in 1692. While the trials were held in Salem, all of Essex County, Andover in particular, was involved. [See related story on page 22.-Ed.] The society showed Three Sovereigns for Sarah, a movie about the episode, July 8.

The Andover Historical Society will also present a special summer program for young people from ages 8 through 14. It will be held each Tuesday in July from noon to 3 p.m.

Informal introductions to old buildings, family histories, burying grounds and antiques will be presented in hands-on activities after lunch on the lawn. Those interested may attend one or all of the sessions. An internship is available for the more serious student. Information about fees and other questions is available from Barbara Thibault, director of education at the historical society.

The society's popular walking tours will also be offered this summer. Participants can enjoy an easy stroll while they become acquainted with the stories behind some of the town's many historic buildings. On Wednesday, July 15, at noon, the focus will be on School Street, whereas the noon Wednesday, July 29, program will feature Main Street. Bring lunch; juice and cookies will be provided.

The Department of Community Services will co-sponsor the Tuesday, July 21, Central Street walking tour from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This group will meet at Andover Baptist Church. There is a small fee for the walking tours.

Those who would rather sit in the cool rooms of the historical society can still enjoy a tour. Main Street Circa 1900 is a video program that will be shown Wednesday, July 22, at noon. Viewers can enjoy the sights of old Andover without moving a muscle. Bring lunch and enjoy the society's lemonade and cookies.

Witchcraft and witch hunts: 300 years of history examined

Tickets for individual lectures go on sale September 1, based on availability.

The series is intended to define and differentiate witchcraft as a religion, and witch-hunting as a means of persecution. Proceeds from the lecture series benefit the Essex Institute and the Salem Witch Trials Tercentenary Committee.

On Thursday, Sept. 17, at 8 p.m., Laurie Cabot will speak on "Witchcraft from 1692 to 1992." Known as the official witch of Salem, Ms. Cabot has practiced witchcraft for more than 40 years; is the founder of the Witches League for Public Awareness; and is author of The Power of the Witch.

Cityscape and its laborers were captured in cotton mill paintings

Paintings of the Boot Cotton Mills are on exhibit in the Gallery at the Boot Cotton Mills Museum in Lowell. "Views of the Boot Mills: First Light to Early Dusk," is an exhibit by cityscape artist James V. McGowan. Mr. McGowan captures the industrial landscape of the historic Boot Cotton Mills with renderings of the mill's classic stairwells, bell tower and millyard.

"It wasn't until I read the book Emmeline by Judith Rossner and Nancy Zaroulis' novel, Call the Darkness Light, that I was able to combine emotions with my historical and architectural research," he said of his Boot Paintings. The Lowell artist says his paintings are of arrangements of brick, wood, and glass... "but the paintings are really about people, in particular the women who labored and often suffered in the mills."

The gallery at the Boot Cotton Mills Museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. "Views of the Boot Mills" will be on exhibit through Sept. 25. For more information, call 970-5004.

Methuen woman is Diocese Laity Award recipient for '92

Bishop Methodios, Bishop of the Greek Orthodox Diocese of Boston, has named Elaine Kevgas as the 1992 recipient of the Diocese Laity Award. It was announced at the annual Diocese Laity Awards Dinner Sunday, June 14, at the Sheraton Boston Hotel.

Bishop Methodios had introduced this event shortly after assuming his duties in the area as a means for local churches to honor individuals who have devoted themselves to their parishes. In addition, Bishop Methodios recognizes an individual who has displayed outstanding service to the Diocese of Boston, which is comprised of all Greek Orthodox parishes in the six New England states.

In naming Miss Kevgas, the Bishop noted that she has served the diocese in numerous capacities. She has been a member of the Diocese of Boston Greek Ladies Philoptochos Board since 1985. In 1987, she chaired the Spring Conference held in Weston and, in June 1987, was elected president of the board. In 1989, she was re-elected to a second two-year term. She currently serves as the advisor to the board. In 1990, she served on the host committee of the historic first visit to America of His All Holiness, the Late Dimitrios I, the Ecumenical Patriarch.

In 1986, Archbishop Iakovos, primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America, presented the medal of Saint Paul to Miss Kevgas on his first visit to Sts. Constantine and Helen Church in Lawrence, where she is a lifelong member. Most recently she chaired its 75th Diamond Jubilee Committee celebration.

Ms. Kevgas is also a member of Pallas Chapter #330 Daughters of Penelope and

Exotic sounds lead off Wang Memorial Series

The advent of the Wang Memorial Series at Boarding House Park in down-town Lowell will be seen Friday and Saturday, July 10 and 11. Andes Manta, a pan-Andean group, will present the enchanting sounds of Ecuador on Friday and the Khmer Performing Arts Ensemble and Angkor Dance Troupe will appear center-stage Saturday.

Dr. An Wang came from his native China as a young student to attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology and went on to leave an indelible mark of excellence on the country and, in particular, the New England area. His vision created hi-tech jobs for thousands of Greater-Lowell residents and worldwide standards for the computer industry. He also contributed generously during his lifetime to the arts. The Wang Center in Boston is a living memorial to his name.

Saturday's program will open at 6 p.m. with prayers by monks of the Trairatanaram Temple. Classical and folk dances of Cambodia will be featured. Friday's performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. In case of rain, the programs will move to the Smith Baker Center, 400 Merrimack St., across from Pollard Memorial Library.

All programs at Boarding House Park are free; however, donations will be gratefully accepted, organizers said.

The Boarding House Park performance series is a production of the Lowell Historic Preservation Commission and Lowell Regatta Festival Committee.

Interfaith celebration at PA summer session

To address the wide range of spiritual needs of Phillips Academy's Summer Session students and faculty, the chaplaincy will have a three-tiered focus based on the premise of the fundamental interconnectedness of all life.

The chaplaincy will approach religious questions with a broad conception of the Divine, to promote a healthy sense of individual/communal spirituality. In light of the religious tensions that divide people, the religious activities of the summer session are oriented to allow people of all faith traditions to join in reflection and celebration. The three-tiered focus will consist of:

□ Morning prayer. Every Monday through Saturday, the entire Summer Session community is invited to Cochran Chapel from 7:30 to 7:45 a.m. for personal meditation and community prayer. Volunteer students and faculty members will provide a poem, prayer, thought or brief musical selection to enhance spiritual rumination.

□ Weekly interfaith services. Each week there will be a religious service, different in style, yet emphasizing the universals of particular religious traditions. The tentative schedule of services is:

Sunday, July 12, 11 a.m. worship in the Christian tradition; Friday, July 17, 7 a.m. worship in the Hebrew tradition; Sunday, July 26, 11 a.m. worship in the African-American tradition; Friday, July 31, 7 p.m. worship in the tradition of Islam; Sunday, Aug. 9, 11 a.m. worship in the traditions of the East.

Each service will consist of prayer, music, explanation/history of faith tradition and rituals, readings, sermon/discussion, etc.

□ W.E.B. Dubois Tuesday Colloquia. Each Tuesday speakers will be at Kemper

Auditorium to present ideas on topics ranging from AIDS, the Holocaust and affirmative action, to music. Dialogue and discussion will be held after presentation. The tentative schedule is:

July 14: Kevin Jennings, founder of the Gay and Lesbian Independent School Teachers Network. "Heterosexism and Homophobia: My Experience as a Gay Man."

July 21: Delfeayo Marsalis, jazz trombonist, recording artist, record producer, and author of "The Tradition of the Blues in America."

July 28: Dr. Ronald E. Aubert, Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga. "Teenagers, STDs and HIV: A Critical Discussion."

Aug. 4: Prof. Anthony E. Cook of Georgetown Law Center in Washington, D.C. "Affirmative Action and American History."

BALLOT BOX

Bits from local politicians running in the fall

regarding the pregnancy and fetus prior to undergoing an abortion, and certain report-keeping, including the names of physicians referring women for abortions. Six years ago the court struck down these same restrictions.

"We are fooling ourselves if we believe that we can rely on the court to protect women from state legislation which is clearly designed to harass and impede them from exercising their choice as to whether or not to bear a child. While the court has chosen not to overturn Roe, the ramifications of the close vote and the whittling away of the parameters of the Roe decision show that no longer can American women rely upon the courts. With four members of the court, including Chief Justice Rehnquist and Justice Clarence Thomas, the Supreme Court is literally one vote away from taking away the right to choose from the women of America. Justice Blackmun said as much in his statement; 'I am 83 years old,' he said. 'I cannot remain on this court forever and when I do step down, the confirmation process for my successor may well focus on the issue before us today.'

"We cannot wait for that to happen. Women should not have to rely on the thin reed of constitutional protection when we, the Congress, can make available the stronger protection of statutory law. The ability of American women to make this most intimate of decisions should not be left riding on the single vote of a justice yet to be appointed. Congress must exercise its legislative prerogatives and act now. Accordingly, I have cosponsored the Freedom of Choice act, H.R. 25, which guarantees the right to choice by keeping the government out of such decisions prior to viability of the fetus. The act would permit the imposition, at any time, of medically necessary requirements by the states to protect the life or health of the woman. During the very week of the Casey decision, this bill was marked up by the House Judiciary Committee. The public has my commitment that when it comes to the House floor, I will fight to pass this pro-choice bill and ensure that women's lives and freedom are safeguarded and are not subject to the judgment of a single justice."

Candidate Jay Gaffney opposes lobbyists

State Senate candidate Jay Gaffney said last week he wants to restrict public agencies from using lobbyists.

"The issue surfaced recently when the MBTA hired high powers, and high-priced, lobbyists, former Senator John Brennan and Regan Communications, the group headed by former Boston Mayor Kevin White's chief flack," according to a statement from Mr. Gaffney. "The MBTA hired these insiders to use their influence and contacts to keep MBTA retirement board records away from public scrutiny."

This move is another example of so-called independent agencies "thumbing their nose at the tax-paying public," according to Mr. Gaffney. He was skeptical about the MBTA's motives in opposing legislation intended to open these records and wondered "what they were trying to protect - or worse - hide."

Lobbying by privately funded groups is an inevitable and legitimate way of representing their interests, but "governmental agencies should be able to talk to each other without the extraneous intervention of influence jobbers like Brennan and Regan," Mr. Gaffney said. "Taxpayers should not be forced to subsidize this kind of effort to defeat their own interests."

He noted that the MBTA and other authorities had no shortage of "alleged information personnel." Mr. Gaffney said that Massachusetts "must be one of the few states where bridges and tunnels have their own press secretaries."

Mr. Gaffney said the independent status of state agencies was being exploited for patronage purposes instead of being used for efficient operation.

If elected, Mr. Gaffney said he will file legislation to end this lobbying abuse and will work for measures to consolidate and streamline these agencies.

Silva lashes Gove. Weld on sex offenders

Anthony R. Silva Jr., candidate for state representative, this week lashed out at the Weld administration for its handling of sex offenders.

In a prepared statement, Mr. Silva blamed the administration for its handling of Richard Kelley, accused of raping and murdering two Plymouth women, and Ralph Houghton, accused of raping a retarded young man. He said the men were released because "the Weld administration reduced staffing of the board that oversees cases like this and allowed its membership to stray from the required law."

"The Weld administration portrays itself as being tough on crime, but they actually contributed to the sharp increase in the rate at which sex offenders have been released," Mr. Silva said.

"Rape is a serious crime and should not be tolerated. Rapes are on the increase and to make matters worse, it is being done by repeat offenders," Mr. Silva said.

Documentation by mental health specialists and psychiatrists indicate that most sex offenders cannot be treated, which substantiates the current increase in repeat offenders, Mr. Silva said.

"The board's problems should be immediately addressed. Secondly, a new sentencing structure of mandatory sentences without early release should be put in place," Mr. Silva said.

The sentence for rape of a child should be life without parole. The penalty should fit the crime, Mr. Silva said.

The damage done to a child "lasts a lifetime," he said.

Mr. Silva added that new members of the advisory board should include victims of rape and family members of victims, "in case a liberal-minded board member forgets what a violent act rape is and votes for parole, and Massachusetts has yet another tragedy."

Mr. Silva also announced this week that Ralph Dellatto, of 24 Marie Drive, owner of Dellatto Construction Co., and J. Larry Conlon, of 40 Lincoln Circle, who with his wife, A. Denise Conlon, owns Conlon Paper in Lawrence, will assist the Silva campaign as members of the small-business committee.

Desmond calls for tax change

John J. Desmond, candidate for state representative in Andover and South Lawrence, is calling for a change in the tax structure in Massachusetts.

Mr. Desmond, who taught courses in government for years in the Billerica school system, said in a prepared statement this week that the present system of taxation is unfair to both the average individual taxpayer and the business community.

"We're giving away business, jobs and revenue to New Hampshire," he said.

Mr. Desmond asked everyone to "think of how Massachusetts would profit if we could get back all of the business that goes over the border to New Hampshire. Think of the new jobs that would be needed here in the commonwealth in order to accommodate all of that new commerce. Now think of the added business that would be generated if the people were given a 5 percent increase in buying power. How do we accomplish all of this? By phasing out the Massachusetts sales tax. This is an economically destructive method of taxation: It robs people of money that could either be invested or saved or spent in stores and shops and small businesses throughout the commonwealth. It puts our own business community at a disadvantage when competing with businesses of New Hampshire. It is time to get rid of the Massachusetts sales tax: It is a tax that is contributing to the economic stagnation of our state."

But Mr. Desmond said that the phasing out of the sales tax must be accompanied with a change in the income tax.

"Currently, taxpayers in Massachusetts are taxed in a flat rate with many deductions. While this may seem fair on the surface, it is not, because the deductions allow individuals and corporations in the higher income levels to write off much of their income and, therefore, to pay less in taxes and the people on the lower income scale pay very little in taxes in the first place. This leaves the brunt of taxation on the backs of the working class. It is time for a system that is more equitable. We should establish a progressive income tax system and eliminate the vast majority of deductions.

"The percentage of income that is taxed should be based on the income level of the taxpayer. People of lower incomes could pay at a rate of 3 percent, middle income at a rate of 6 percent and the upper income levels at a rate of 10 percent. With the removal of most deductions, each level will be more likely to pay their fair share of taxes.

"It is with this combination of changes that state revenues will be generated from more appropriate sources," Mr. Desmond said. "Right now the majority of state revenues are coming primarily from an inequitable tax on incomes and from the pockets of consumers who have to pay a sales tax that is over and above the cost of the item that they are purchasing. The working men and women of our middle class are paying the lion's share of the bills. This is simply not fair."

Martin Meehan raises funds

After just two weeks full time on the campaign trail, Martin T. Meehan, of Lowell, an unannounced candidate for Congress, raised more than $80,000 at his first major fund-raisers on Tuesday, June 30.

"Even though congressional district lines have not been drawn, there has been an outpouring of support for my candidacy throughout the area. It is obvious that people agree that the time for reform in Congress is long overdue. People are ready for change," Mr. Meehan said in a prepared statement.

At the fund-raisers, attended by about 500 people, Mr. Meehan pledged his support for major reforms of campaign financing and committed to serve no more than four terms if elected to the U.S. House of Representatives.

"The first step toward achieving our common goals is to rid Congress of the career politicians who couldn't care less about the interests of working men and women. And, if elected, I will not become a life member of that exclusive club. I will serve no more than four terms as a representative in Congress. That mandate, which I believe all congressmen and congresswomen should commit to, ensures that at least once every eight years the doors of the Capital building are forced open and new talent is allowed in," he said.

Mr. Meehan resigned as first assistant district attorney of Middlesex County, the largest county in Massachusetts, June 12 to prepare his candidacy for Congress.

John O'Brien to open district office in Lawrence

John O'Brien, of 107 High St., candidate for the state Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Patricia McGovern, D-Lawrence, was scheduled to open his first district campaign office this week at 182 Parker St., in Lawrence.

An opening reception, for any residents of the district who would like to attend, is scheduled for tonight, Thursday, July 9, at 6 p.m.

Rep. Gary Coon makes it official

Rep. Gary Coon, R-Andover, officially announced his intention to seek re-election during a rally last Tuesday evening at the Rolling Green Host Hotel on Lowell Street.

Mr. Coon is a first-term state representative for the 17th Essex District, which includes Andover and a portion of Lawrence.

In his announcement speech, Mr. Coon reflected on the fiscal problems that faced the state in 1990, citing progress made on economic and budgetary issues.

"We've come a long way in just 18 months," he said.

Mr. Coon also discussed education reform, charging parents, politicians, teachers and administrators to work together for better schools.

Mr. Coon said his proposed tough anti-auto theft legislation will be a priority for him in the coming months.

Looks like Atkins' district still includes Andover, Lawrence

By Don Staruk

As the congressional redistricting guillotine was ready to drop yesterday afternoon, it appeared U.S. Rep. Chester Atkins, D-Concord, would remain in a Merrimack Valley district that would include Andover.

"No sitting congressman will have to go up against another," said Wendy Wakeman, aide to Rep. Gary Coon, D-Andover, five minutes after the redistricting committee reported it had come to a compromise on the map Wednesday morning.

The House was expected to debate and vote on that compromise map Wednesday afternoon, after the Townsmen went to press.

"Whether or not this will be the last map, nobody knows," Ms. Wakeman said.

The latest map leaves North Andover and Haverhill in the 6th Congressional District under Nicholas Mavroules, D-Peabody. Bedford goes to the 6th along with former 7th district towns of Wilmington, Reading and Burlington.

Tewksbury and Billerica would join Andover in the 5th district, while Framingham and Weston go to the 7th district. But Concord, Rep. Atkins' home town, and part of Lincoln remain in the 5th.

The 5th district would be stretched west to include Bolton, Stowe, Lancaster, Shirley and Pepperell, and south for Hudson, Marlborough, Southborough and Ashland. Framingham, Rep. Atkins' traditional stronghold, would be out, possibly leaving the incumbent vulnerable to his several local challengers, including Andover Republican Paul Cronin.

get off scot-free, we're punishing the victims," he said.

Mr. Coon wrapped up his remarks with a request to the gathered supporters for help on his campaign.

As part of the kick-off celebration, Mr. Coon announced the members of his 1992 campaign team. Eleanor C. Hendry of Delphi Circle will serve as his campaign manager; Charles F. "Bucky" Dalton, Andover attorney, will head Rep. Coon's finance committee, and long-time political ally Bradford B. Wakeman, CPA, will again serve as treasurer.

Ellen Murphy makes it official

Ellen Murphy, Democratic candidate for State Representative in the 17th Essex District, formally announced her candidacy during a reception at the Andover Inn last Wednesday night, July 1.

But commenting on the compromise map Wednesday morning, a source close to the Atkins' camp who did not want to be identified said that was not necessarily so.

"He wanted to keep much of his original district, so he should be pleased with this," the source said.

Bob Manning, Andover Republican Town Committee chairman, said Wednesday that Mr. Atkins has his work cut out for him.

"It looks like Chet Atkins is going to remain the incumbent for our area. So he's going to have to deal with the people in the area that he's neglected for so many years," Mr. Manning said.

Others running for the 5th District seat include Democrats Kathleen Kelley, Martin Meehan and Philip Shea, all from Lowell, Republican Michael G. Conway, of Lowell, and Louise Hart, of 11 Heather Drive in Andover, a member of the Independent Voter Party.

If approved by the 160 members of the House, the compromise map worked out Wednesday morning would go through a vote in the Senate, then for final approval and the signature of the governor.

U.S. Rep. Chet Atkins, D-Concord

"Even if the house votes today, it's probably not going to take effect until tomorrow at the earliest," Mr. Manning said. "But they're running out of time."

If a map is not approved by Friday, July 10, the federal courts could take over the redistricting effort and draw the districts without the legislators' input, according to Mr. Manning.

"That's not to say they will," but they could, Mr. Manning said.

The state redistricting of congressional districts, reducing the number of districts from 11 to 10, was necessary because the 1990 federal census showed a drop in the state's population. All 10 incumbents running are Democrats, and much of the haggling over where the district lines would be drawn has been between Republicans trying to better their odds at winning a couple seats, and the Democrats trying to hold them.

Creation of a Merrimack Valley seat is due largely to the commitment by Gov. Weld to form one, according to Mr. Manning. And the governor has enough votes in the House and the Senate to uphold that plan, he said.

"The tough part was working with the Democratic redistricting committee," Mr. Manning said.

Joan Fallon, aide to state Sen. Pat McGovern, D-Lawrence, said Wednesday morning that Sen. McGovern had been hoping to pull North Andover into the district, but that "apparently last night North Andover was up in the air."

"Pat has been working very hard to get Greater Lowell and Greater Lawrence in a district together," Ms. Fallon said.

In her remarks, Ms. Murphy cited the serious crisis of confidence in government as one of the things that inspired her to run.

"I decided that it was not good enough for me to join in the chorus of critics, but to act and make a difference," Ms. Murphy stated.

Ms. Murphy took the opportunity to clarify her priorities.

"We need to create an environment in this state which encourages economic growth and job creation. We need to find ways to improve the quality of life in our communities. We should be secure in our homes and safe on our streets. We also need to make a stronger commitment to excellence in education.

"The communities need leadership and assistance from their state government... and we have not gotten it. Local aid cannot continue to be the orphan child of the state budget. The state should provide consistent and adequate support for the cities and towns. This is critical to solving the problems of our communities and I will fight for it," she said.

Ms. Murphy said she will refuse to accept mediocrity and the status quo, and will demand responsible and accountable state government.

"That's why I decided to run. I think that I can make a difference. I have the commitment. I have the skills and I will work to bring professional management and fiscal responsibility to our state government," she said.

Ms. Murphy, 28, of 28 Johnson Road, graduated from Andover High School the same year as Rep. Gary Coon, the incumbent.

Self-esteem is contagious

Maybe health teacher Patty Barrett does her job at Andover High School well because she loves it. Or maybe she loves it because she does it well.

Whatever the reason, it is always good to recognize excellence in teaching, and Ms. Barrett, who is 33 and lives on Bryan Lane, is obviously doing a good job.

She has won several awards, including the recent one in which she was chosen by a panel of Boston-area educators as a "Terrific Teacher Making a Difference." The award, which recognizes outstanding commitment to teaching and enhancing student self-esteem, includes a $500 grant to develop self-esteem enhancement ideas to be expanded upon at a workshop. Ms. Barry will meet with others who have won the Terrific Teacher designation to brainstorm on developing students' self-esteem.

There are teachers who balk at the idea of singling out excellent teachers, giving them rewards in the form of money, or awards, or whatever. But we have always liked the idea of recognizing excellence. It boosts self-esteem in teachers, points out teachers who others in the profession might like to emulate.

A teacher who is successful, and recognized by her peers as being same, will gain in her own self-esteem. And that good feeling will be passed on to some of her students.

For the same reasons, we list school honor rolls, or publish profiles of exceptional students.

So we congratulate Patty Barrett. It is encouraging to see a young teacher who so obviously enjoys working with young people. And we are especially pleased to note that the award she received includes the stipend to study passing along self-esteem to students, for self-esteem is the hoped-for byproduct of education.

Getting back to important things in life

By Perry Colmore Catlin

I was outdoors the other night, walking my dog. It was fairly warm, the sky was tar black with bright dots of stars sprinkled about. Suddenly I saw a spark of light off to the left. It flickered on, then off. It was moving.

It was a firefly, sent with its luminescent light to take me back to childhood. Those days, my brother and sister and I would collect fireflies in mayonnaise jars my mother washed for just that purpose. We would get as many golden fireflies as we could in our bottles, compare numbers as best we could, and then let them go in a burst of moving yellow light. It was magic.

My childhood came up again recently when two wonderful letters came to the Townsmen from children. They were written in large, studied pencil letters. I could imagine a tongue sticking out of the side of the youngster's mouth in concentration, and the tight and awkward pencil grasp it took to form the self-conscious letters:

"I liked this story about birds because I really, really am interested in birds and the way they live and nest," wrote 8-year-old Caty Meehan of Copley Drive. "I also thought that it was interesting because purple martins and swallows are new to me and I've also been curious about lots of different kinds of birds."

In excellent handwriting, Caty goes on to say she has a suggestion, "just one."

"I think they should have included a little porch-like thing outside the door." She is referring to a story by Mary Katis, "This 58-unit Boxford condo is for the birds," published on page 56 in the June 25 Townsmen. The story is about Jeff Mathias who built a huge birdhouse for purple martins, and it included a photo of Mr. Mathias and his 8-year-old daughter, Mia, in front of the bird condo.

Maybe Caty liked seeing someone her age in the paper; but she also was drawn into the story with her creatively critical mind. She drew a large diagram of the porch that she would have included in the design.

What a wonderful time for many childhood - when purple martins and swallows are new. I'm listening to the children, who have messages for us.

Megan Pinksten, of 1 Governors Drive, also wrote to us. She wanted to comment on a letter to the editor about a good teacher, Carlene Darby at West Elementary School. Megan, who like Caty is 8 years old, had Ms. Darby when she was in first grade. Now going into third grade at West, Megan thought the letter left out the fact that Ms. Darby is also a fun teacher, in addition to being a good one.

It was a wonderful letter, one by a very grown up third-grader who hasn't forgotten the importance of a first-grade teacher who has a "fun" classroom.

Adding to my trip back into my childhood was the above photo, of Georgiana Kuhlmann and Susie Wagner's lemonade stand on School Street. Remember when you decided to go into the lemonade business with your friend down the

Tom Meyers on school changes

Editor, Townsmen:

The 1991-1992 school year has produced significant changes in the curriculum as Andover prepares to educate students for the 21 century. The teachers have been working hard to improve and redefine the curriculum and the results of their work will be seen this fall in many areas. Some of these changes are:

1. A new math program 3-5 will emphasize applied math. Also, algebra will be introduced at the eighth-grade level with geometry moving into the ninth grade.

2. A new health program will be piloted K-5.

3. A new social studies program will be implemented K-5. Also, a new social studies program will be implemented at eighth grade, stressing American studies.

4. Foreign languages will be introduced at the sixth-grade level with one-third of the year spent in each of the languages: Spanish, French and Latin.

We as educators are committed to change. However, we are disturbed that more debate is not centered on the allocation of the limited financial resources, and as a result we have some questions that Andover residents, particularly parents, should discuss.

1. Should many new programs be implemented at the expense of class size? Is the School Committee striking a balance between change and managing the existing curriculum?

2. How is Andover going to continue to stay competitive in recruiting and retaining staff?

3. Since Andover already has a superintendent, a business manager, a school accountant and a "special-projects" coordinator, is a new assistant superintendent a wise expenditure of resources at the present time?

4. If Andover is moving to "site-based management" and "shared decision-making" with teachers and parents' involvement, do we need more or less administration?

5. Should Andover be reorganizing staff with its accompanying costs (or) applying these resources to support existing staff and morale?

These questions should be addressed and answered. The answers will determine whether the staff continues to reform the curriculum. As the changes are implemented, Andover is facing a major challenge with its limited resources for education funding. Change costs money, and as we make needed revisions to move education forward, the financial commitment needed to maintain existing programs and staffing may suffer. A balance must be struck between continuing change, supporting current programs and maintaining our quality staff.

Andover Education Association

Feminism is not a dirty word

Editor, Townsmen:

I have been following the letters flying back and forth, (re: feminism) with great interest. I wasn't going to get involved until I read one sentence: "Modern feminists are concerned with freedom from responsibility." Ouch!

That's an incredible indictment of all women who believe that women should be afforded the same opportunities as men in our society. Anyone with some intelligence knows that with choice and freedom comes the responsibility to defend and use it well. Feminism is not a dirty word.

Sure there are people who are radical, immoral and nasty. They come in all shapes, creeds and colors. There always have been - that's why Moses was given the 10 Commandments. Just because some people who call themselves feminists support prochoice and homosexuality doesn't mean the whole idea of feminism should be chucked out with the garbage. It's feminist viewpoints that have made run-out fathers responsible for paying child support; it's made companies responsible for creating and enforcing antidiscriminatory policies and other equally noble ideas in society.

Please don't let a few "bad" apples ruin the whole bunch. Feminists have accomplished and continue to accomplish many positive things for all of us.

street? You asked your mother to supply the sugar and lemons. Today, it comes out of a can, I guess.

But your mom never said anything about her expenses in the venture. And you sat out there for what seemed like hours, hoping someone would stop and make you rich.

If you were lucky, you had someone in your neighborhood like Mrs. Marion, an elderly, kind neighbor I had in Charlotte, N.C., who would support most neighborhood projects put together by the neighborhood children.

Ah, it is good to remember.

Biking through Andover

By Don Staruk

One thing you can't do while wearing a bicycle helmet is look good.

At least that's what one of my co-workers informed me when she was checking out my gear as we prepared to embark on a bike tour of West Andover with the Andover Bicycle Committee on a recent Friday evening.

Granted, I didn't have all the other stylish gear to really look like I knew what I was doing, the padded tights, gloves or pedal clips on my shoes. But no matter what you wear, it's hard to look cool wearing what looks like a Styrofoam beer cooler on your head. And bike committee members encourage safe biking so not wearing the helmet was not an option.

Once I got past worrying about what I looked like, we had a great time. My co-workers Lisa Boudreau and Melissa DeMeo and I met bike committee members at West Parish Church at about 6 p.m. Dan McGrath, of 19 Canterbury St., had gotten together a group that included Jerry Sabath, of 14 Glen Meadow Road, Bob and Margaret Pustell, of 85 Porter Road, Carole Chanler, of 40 Gray Road, and Dan Bloom, of 2 Oriole Drive, to accompany us on the tour. The nine of us headed out Beacon Street on the "West Andover: Merrimack River and Views" trail, 10 miles of leisurely pedaling with only a couple of tough hills.

Unfortunately, bikers must share nearly the entire route with motorists. Along with promoting safe bike riding, garnering support for building bicycle trails all through Andover is one of the committee's objectives.

The Andover Village Improvement Society does not encourage biking on its walking trails because of the erosion bikes cause, especially in wetland areas. But Mr. Pustell, chairman of the Conservation Commission, said he does not think the commission would have any problem working out a way to allow bike trails on the town's conservation land, although that idea has not been discussed at length by the board.

But building bike trails is not cheap. A group called East Coast Greenway Alliance, which is working to establish a bike trail from Boston to Washington D.C., estimates the cost of building bike trails at $65,000 per mile. The bike committee, which was formed a year ago and is still a rather informal group of about 30 members, does not have any funds and has no immediate plans for construction of any trails in Andover. But Mr. Sabath is researching sources of state or federal funding for bike trails and is compiling a list of priorities for locating trails.

Biking through Andover

Our ride took us out Beacon Street past Andover Country Club, onto Chandler Road to Brundrett Avenue and straight across River Road down to the town access road to the Fish Brook Pumping Station and the Merrimack River. We had to lift our bikes past the gate onto the access road and the road itself was covered with sand, making for treacherous biking. Even my co-workers, who both had mountain bikes, found the going slippery.

After a break at the river, we backtracked to River Road and headed west to Boutwell Road, just shy of the town's border with Tewksbury.

When we noticed several catalpa trees in the River Road area - the trees with the long seeds that look like beans hanging from them - Ms. Pustell informed us the reason for their numbers. Apparently one Arbor Day, back around the turn of the century, school children were given catalpa seeds to plant all over town and those trees we see now are the results of those seeds.

We passed resident Doris Newton walking along Boutwell Road. Ms. Pustell informed us that the 85-year-old Ms. Newton has "always lived here" and knows the area's history as well as anybody.

We turned up Pleasant Street and onto High Plain Road where we stopped for another break near the community gardens at the Rafton Reservation. We finished up with the long downhill across Fish Brook and back along High Plain Road to West Parish.

Our leisurely cycle took about an hour and a half and, even if I didn't look good, it felt great.

It was the bicycle committee's

Group has maps on bike trips

Several local route maps for bike rides around Andover are available from the Andover Bicycle Committee and the Department of Community Services.

In addition to the West Andover route taken by the committee two weeks ago, they include "South Andover: Ponds, Woods and Back Roads," an 8.2-mile loop on the relatively quiet roads in the area of Harold Parker State Park; "All Around Andover," a 32-mile loop that stretches from Jenkins Road to the Merrimack River; "Bikes, Bakers Meadow and Beavers," a 4.9-mile ride with short hikes possible along the way; "Pomps Pond and Shawsheen River Ride," 5.7 miles from the center of town through Ballardvale and back; and the "Bog Trail Ride," a 4.1-mile ride out around the Ward Reservation.

For more information about the bike committee's efforts, or about biking in Andover in general, call or see Peg Campbell at the Department of Community Services in town offices on Bartlet Street, or call Margaret Pustell at 475-4871.

first organized ride together as a group, but hopefully not the last. The committee is hosting a Bike to The Park this Sunday, July 12.

Residents are encouraged to bike from wherever they live in town to The Park, next to town offices on Bartlet Street, for a bring-your-own picnic with other bike enthusiasts.

Meet there at 1 p.m.

our thoughts regarding the Shawsheen program with parents who may be considering Shawsheen as an appropriate option for their child. By way of background, we reside in the South School district and our fourth grader very happily attends South School. Thus, we have had to make the difficult choice of whether to send our children to the same school or whether our son should remain at Shawsheen for second grade. We would like to take this opportunity to share with parents of other second graders some of the reasons why we have selected Shawsheen.

First, the obvious. Shawsheen School's integrated primary program had a wonderful first year and almost all of the parents have elected to remain in the program. As a

Family shares its Shawsheen experience

ing years of pressure to compete and succeed in school, we decided that our 7-year-old would benefit from one more year of not being "hurried."

Second, we knew the superb quality of the one teacher who has already been named to teach second grade next year. We feel confident that the additional teacher selected for this grade will be similarly highly qualified and will work effectively towards a team approach to integrating curriculum themes.

Our third and concomitant reason is that the curriculum at Shawsheen will continue to stress integrated learning and a whole language approach. This has helped our son to learn at his own developmental level and thus remain excited and challenged by school.

Fourth, the second grade at Shawsheen will have the advantage of not only the new math program but also the highly-regarded pilot social studies program. Additionally, the school will be fully equipped for the new second grade, having all the support materials and hardware available at the other elementary schools and a playground suitable for these older children.

Fifth, Kids' Club, the superlative before- and after-school enrichment program will remain on the premises and its staff closely cooperating with the Shawsheen staff.

Additional concerns regarding selecting a school not in our neighborhood have, we believe, been satisfactorily addressed. Transportation, an essential for our family, will be available at a modest fee on the same four bus routes available to children who attend St. Augustine's School. The issue of transition to neighborhood schools at the end of second grade will be explicitly addressed and plans, we have been assured, will be implemented to successfully integrate these children into the third grade at their neighborhood schools.

We would be pleased to discuss Shawsheen school with any parents interested in our experience. Shawsheen has a very active PTO and its board member, Gail Watts, as the second-grade coordinator, is knowledgeable about issues specifically addressing second grade and would welcome sharing this information.

We believe that Shawsheen School represents a wonderful educational resource for our community. It has been a special place for learning for our child and we encourage parents who may not have done so already to consider this option for their second grader as well.

1 neighbor helps another, with 'Doubles for Love'

By Mary Katis

Kate Rokos, 2 1/2 years old, is the reason for "Doubles for Love," a tennis tournament organized by Mary Kay Mungstertieger. The purpose of the tournament is to raise money for medical research to help children like Kate, who has cystic fibrosis. Mrs. Mungstertieger, of 60 Raleigh Tavern Lane, North Andover, met Meg and Paul Rokos through their love of tennis and wanted to help their daughter, Kate.

"It is hard to accept when friends have a child with a disease like cystic fibrosis," said Ms. Mungstertieger. "I count my blessings and hope I can help people who have trials like Meg and Paul."

Mr. and Mrs. Rokos, of 981 Johnson St., North Andover, were like many young couples expecting a baby. They were employed — both working for Xerox Corp. — when their baby girl was born. They expected to bring her home from the hospital like everyone else, but instead, their baby needed surgery.

"When Kate was born she had a bowel obstruction and kidney defect," said Mrs. Rokos. "She had surgery to correct the bowel problem, but I suspected cystic fibrosis... I knew I had to keep pushing for more reasons why Kate had problems. A sweat test, a non-invasive test, showed cystic fibrosis and Kate was diagnosed at 5 months. I was sad, mad, and wondered why us."

"It is hell to see your baby in the infant intensive-care unit at Mass. General," said Mr. Rokos. "Our first baby was a boy, Edward, who died six months premature, and now after a 24-hour labor with Kate, the baby has problems. Our son Zack, 1 year old, has been tested and is a cystic fibrosis carrier."

"Kate will have an impact on this world," continued Mr. Rokos. "She has already brought our family closer."

"She was born on Christmas day and conceived on Easter," Mrs. Rokos added.

Cystic fibrosis is a hereditary disease that causes the body fluids to produce abnormally thick mucus. The mucus causes the body organs to be unable to function normally and to be prone to infection, according to doctors. Mr. and Mrs. Rokos chose Children's Hospital in Boston as the primary resource for Kate. Children's Hospital has a department devoted to care and treatment of cystic fibrosis patients.

"We manage her care with Children's Hospital and our regular pediatrician," said Mrs. Rokos. "We want to apply everything available, every new treatment. You have to be a quarterback for the whole care process."

Mrs. Rokos had worked at Xerox for 10 years. She decided to keep her job and look for a nanny for Kate. She wanted to keep life as normal as possi-

Playing 'Doubles for Love'

"Doubles for Love" will be held at Cedardale in Haverhill, July 17-19. The entrance fee is $40 per person for the first event, and $20 for a second event; plus there is a chicken barbecue and a D.J. on Saturday. The tournament features men's, women's and mixed doubles. Prizes include two American Airlines tickets to London and six American Airlines tickets to anywhere in the USA.

The doubles team that wins will be awarded an American Airlines ticket to both players. Call Pete Barrett at Cedardale in Haverhill (373-1596) or call Mrs. Mungstertieger at 682-3169 to register or to donate items for the raffle.

ble. Recently, Mrs. Rokos changed jobs and is working three days a week with Forum of Boston, as a consultant.

They hired Jill Crouse from Topeka, Kan., as their nanny. Ms. Crouse lives in the Rokos' home.

"She is a guardian angel," said Mrs. Rokos. "Jill has been fantastic and understands children very well. She plays with them and is able to keep limits and balance in their lives. Jill doesn't treat Kate differently, but expects her to do what all the other kids do."

The recommended nutrition plan for Kate requires enzymes with every meal. She takes big enzyme pills mashed in applesauce. She is also given an antibiotic prophylactic treatment daily.

"Kate's digestive system blocks sodium and enzymes," said Mrs. Rokos. "The treatment is to boost levels of fat and hope they'll be absorbed. She has dream foods: french fries, peanut butter, chicken nuggets, potato chips. Also, she has high volumes of vitamin E and K. The diet for cystic fibrosis patients was just the opposite five years ago: low fat, low sodium, low protein with high carbohydrates.

"We have become subject-matter experts," said Mrs. Rokos. "This empowers us when we make choices for Kate."

Mr. and Mrs. Rokos hope Kate can have Amelorida treatment. Amelorida is a blood thinning drug used for heart disease and discovered in aerosol form to loosen mucus.

Kate's daily routine and play times are chosen carefully. Colds are her enemy and could bring risk of infection. Play time always begins with washing hands to cut down on germs. Outings to Penguin Park or the grocery store are always considered in terms of risk and probability of risk.

"When Kate goes to school, she'll be hit with virus and cold germs, but we are trying to keep her as strong and healthy as we can for now," said Mrs. Rokos. "We are hoping by the time she is in the first grade there will be an effective treatment."

Physical therapy is directed toward postural drainage. Clapping on the lungs to cough up fluid becomes routine, like brushing teeth.

"The future is bright for kids like Kate," said Mr. Rokos. "There is a breakthrough in the last few years with a gene replacement therapy. It hasn't been tried on humans, but will be used some day. This research will also help AIDS victims."

"We have learned that we can make an impact on things larger than we are," continued Mr. Rokos. "Kate has made us realize this and Kate will help other people she meets."

Last year the tennis tournament, "Doubles for Love," raised $4,000 for cystic fibrosis research. Mrs. Mungstertieger planned the event last year and hoped that the Rokos family felt the support everyone was giving them during such a difficult time in their lives. Her son, Barry, will attend the University of Cincinnati next fall and Cory, 15, is a student at Phillips Academy. She is proud of her sons and counts her blessings.

Diane Margraf, of Cumberland, R.I., #1, passes off the Olympic Torch to Andover's Christine Robertson last Friday. The two were the first carriers of the torch in this area. Ms. Margraf carried it from Christy's market to Andover Commons on Railroad Street. Ms. Robertson took it for the second leg to Shawsheen Square. Running the torch raised money for the American Olympic teams.

36 will go to Bay State Games

Andover will be well-represented at the 11th annual Summer Bay State Games, which begin with opening ceremonies next Thursday night at City Hall Plaza in Boston.

Thirty-two Andover residents will be among the 5,200 participants competing in various athletic activities on the campuses of UMass-Boston, M.I.T., Harvard, Tufts and on the Charles River.

Each of the local athletes will be on the Northeast Area team and the games will run four consecutive days, finishing Sunday, July 19.

Over 110,000 athletes have competed in The Games since 1982, and more than $110,000 in academic scholarship money has been distributed over the past five years.

Sean Ryan: a national champion

By Rick Harrison

Sean Ryan, the Eastern Mass. Division 1 Basketball Player-of-the-Year at Andover High last winter, was the first guard off the bench on the Boston team which won the championship at the recently-concluded National AAU Men's 19-and-under Basketball Tournament in Jacksonville, Fla.

Ryan helped the Boston entry to its first-ever victory in this tourney, traditionally dominated by teams from Detroit (eight titles) and New York (six titles).

The Boston team featured eight Division 1 college recruits, including young Mr. Ryan who is headed to Monmouth College in the fall.

"There were six excellent guards on the team," said Charlie Ryan, Sean's father and the former boys' varsity coach at Lowell High. "Sean didn't do a lot of scoring, but that wasn't his role on the team. They (Coaches Leo Papile and Al Brodsky) wanted him as a playmaker and someone who could protect the ball.

They saw him as a steady, heady player who could keep things settled down."

Ryan performed his role well, committing only two turnovers in the four games.

"He played about half of each game and it was a great experience," added his father.

Sean's strong suit at Andover High was his scoring, as he pumped in more than 500 points this past

Superb mound work = undefeated Post 8 team

By Rick Harrison

Spectacular pitching is now routine for the Andover Legion Post 8 baseball team, which entered last night's game with Lawrence Legion Post 15 undefeated thanks to more superb mound work by righthanders Justin Hesenius and Mike Kinnon.

Andover, 8-0 overall, rolled to recent victories over Lynn Connery Post 6 by a 5-0 score and Methuen Post 122 by a 4-1 count.

Post 8 had surrendered just two runs in its last four games prior to Lawrence, four runs in six games and only nine runs overall in its first eight contests.

A key showdown with rival Lawrence Post 15 came last night under the lights at Mark Devlin Field (8 p.m.).

Post 8 hosts Salem on Saturday at 5 p.m., and also entertains Haverhill on Sunday at 5.

Andover's postponed season opener (June 13) against Gloucester has been rescheduled as part of a doubleheader on Sunday, July 19.

The revision has Post 8 now playing Saugus at Stackpole Field in Saugus at 1 p.m. that afternoon, and then returning home to host Gloucester at Andover High at 5 p.m.

Mike Kinnon

The rained out game with Revere has yet to be reset.

Andover, 5-0

Justin Hesenius, regaining the form that made him a co-ace and winner of 16 games for Andover High the past two years, fired a two-hit shutout and fanned 10 as Post 8 dominated Lynn Connery Post 6 at Fraser Field.

Hesenius, who also walked six but only allowed two runners beyond second base, was in complete control throughout.

Post 6's lone serious threat came in the bottom of the first when Murphy walked and Lyman singled. Holt then tapped back to Hesenius, who nailed Lyman at second. Holt was safe at first on the doubleplay attempt, but Murphy was thrown out attempting to score as catcher Matt Daniels applied the tag.

Andover also had trouble with Lynn Connery starting pitcher Jim Holt, but finally broke through with one run in the fifth, three in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Gus Quattlebaum laced a two-out single to left in the first, but was thrown out stealing, and the same thing happened to Brian Flanagan in the second stanza.

Flanagan opened the fifth with another opposite-field single. Mike Daley bunted him to second, he took third on a passed ball, and Matt Daniels lined a single to center field for the only run necessary.

All the sixth-inning damage came with two down as Quattlebaum and Hesenius walked to get things started. Flanagan singled to right field for one run, and an over-throw on the same play enabled Hesenius to score. Flanagan then crossed on Mike Daley's base hit to right center.

In the seventh Chris Lembo walked, advanced on consecutive infield outs by Jim Hanning and Jim Landry, and scored on a double by Mike Sullivan.

Flanagan led the seven-hit attack with a perfect 3-for-3 night, scoring two runs and driving home one.

First baseman Mike Daley played well defensively for Post 8.

Andover, 4-1

Mike Kinnon improved to 3-0 overall with a strong performance against Methuen, keeping up with Jim Hanning and Justin Hesenius with a three-hitter.

He struck out five and blanked Post 122 over the final six innings.

Andover managed just four hits itself off Paul Tridenti.

Trailing 1-0 in the second, Post 8 scored twice for all the runs necessary.

Justin Hesenius led off with a triple, Brian Flanagan walked and stole second, and when Chris Lembo's infield grounder was booted and thrown away two runs scored.

Paul Allard and Matt Wolcott lashed RBI singles in the fourth and fifth for insurance.

Shortstop Bob Sheehan provided the other Andover safety, while Flanagan scored twice.

Rob Fyrer led Methuen with a triple, single and he also scored the lone Post 122 run.

Andover, 9-2

Gus Quattlebaum, Matt Daniles and Mike Sullivan led the offense, combining for five hits and five RBI, as Post 8 broke open a tight game against Wakefield with four runs in the fourth and three more in the fifth at Walsh Field.

The game was called because of darkness in the bottom of the sixth, Wakefield threatening with one run in, the bases loaded and one out.

Justin Hesenius (2-0) was the winning pitcher, working three innings of two-hit ball and leaving with a slender 2-1 lead. Hesenius struck out five, including the side in the first, and walked four.

Matt Marvin hurled 2.1 innings of strong relief, but then walked four straight in the sixth before the game was halted.

Andover inched ahead 1-0 in the top of the first when Mike Sullivan beat out a perfect drag bunt single, stole second and continued to third on the catcher's overthrow, and scored on Hesenius's base hit.

In the third Matt Wolcott was hit by a pitch, stole second and crossed on Sullivan's one-out single to right field.

Hesenius, not as sharp as usual, worked out of jams in each of the three innings he pitched.

In the first Wakefield's Steve Migliero slapped a leadoff single and Joe Tragno walked, but Hesenius then whiffed the middle of the order including two on called third strikes.

In the second Chris Mitchell walked and Tim Curley singled to center, but a 6-4-3 doubleplay (Quattlebaum-Bob Sheehan-Mike Daley) and strikeout ended that threat.

Wakefield scored an unearned run in the third when Migliero walked, took second on a wild pitch and trotted home after three Post 8 errors.

Andover's four-run fourth was launched when Quattlebaum and Chris Lembo were safe on consecutive one-out errors. Mike Daley and Matt Daniels laced RBI singles, Wolcott's infield grounder was misplayed for a run, and Jim Landry greeted Wakefield's first relief pitcher by hoisting an RBI sacrifice fly.

The lead jumped to 9-1 in the top of the fifth.

Wakefield notched another unearned run in the fifth when Tragno was safe on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on a two-out infield error.

Sullivan led the eight-hit assault with 3-for-4.

Andover, 9-1

Post 8 played the opportunist's role against poor-fielding Lynn Gauthier Post 345, taking advantage of seven Lynn errors to score eight gift runs in their third straight blowout victory.

year for the Golden Warriors who finished 16-8 and reached the semifinal round of the Eastern Mass. Division 1 North Tournament with victories over Woburn, Salem and Cambridge Rindge & Latin.

Ryan was named to virtually everyone's All-Star and All-Scholastic team before being tabbed Player-of-the-Year.

He also appeared in a National TV commercial starring Larry Bird and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

The Boston AAU crew, in the toughest bracket of the 12-team tournament, won the title by defeating host Florida in the first round.

The champs then upset pre-tournament favorite Detroit, Mich. in the quarterfinals, beating a team stocked with 13 Division 1 scholarship athletes.

Boston edged New York 105-98 in the semifinals and knocked off New Jersey 110-100 in the championship final.

Ryan returned home with a gold medal, and a deep bruise on his neck and chest where he took an elbow in the heat of the title game.

The Boston team is hand-picked by longtime Head Coach

Sean Ryan

Papile. There are no tryouts.

Ryan, one of Andover High's all-time scoring leaders, will spend the summer working at several camps and giving private lessons to a number of area youngsters.

"Sean goes to their homes or takes the kids to a local playground for the lessons," explained Charlie. "He makes a little extra money and has a lot of fun while he's doing it."

Red Sox are town champs

By Rick Harrison

(Ed. Note: Because of space limitations in last week's holiday issue of the Townsman, the following accounts of the two games in the Andover Major Little League Town Championship series had to be postponed until this week).

Red Sox, 9-3 (First Game)

Chuck Sobieck, who is moving to Texas shortly, pitched three shutout innings and joined playoff game hero Rob Oppenheim as the offensive standouts in the Sox series-opening victory over the Giants.

On the mound righthander Sobieck yielded just one hit, walking two and whiffing two, while at the plate the AL champs' leadoff batter was 2-for-2 including a two-run double.

"There wasn't a better pitcher in the league than Chuck the first half of the season," said Manager Oppenheim. "Then he pulled a thigh muscle and it's bothered him ever since. He has trouble running or making quick moves in the field. It's also taken some velocity off his fastball when he's pitching."

"I wouldn't pitch Chuck more than three innings after the injury, but he came up with a strong performance in the opening game of the series."

Oppenheim, who hit .800 in the brief series (4-for-5), belted a pair of doubles and drove in three runs to spark the first-game offense.

The Red Sox wasted no time jumping on top 2-0.

Sobieck, who was on base four straight times (two walks) and scored three runs, opened the game with a free pass. Lefty batter Adam Espinola looped a single to right center field on a 3-2 pitch from Giants' starter Randy Romano, and Oppenheim then drilled a one-hop double off the fence in left center field to plate both runners.

An alert play by Giant shortstop Scott Petersen caught Oppenheim at second base, however, as he rounded the bag too far.

Aaron Bellorado followed with a single, Nick Branzetti drew a two-out walk, but the inning ended on a pop-up to second baseman Pat Moran.

Josh Prudden dumped a one-out opposite-field single to left in the Giants' first, but he was left stranded at second base.

With two down in the second stanza, Sobieck walked on a 3-2 serve, raced to third on a double to left by Espinola, and scored after consecutive walks to Oppenheim and Bellorado (RBI).

The inning ended when Espinola tried to steal home on the throw back to pitcher Romano. The surprised Romano recovered in time to throw to catcher Frank Fitzpatrick, nipping the sliding Sox' center fielder at the plate.

The AL champs made it 4-0 in the top of the third as Branzetti smacked a one-out double, took third on Keith Espinola's infield out, and scored when a pitch skipped past the catcher to the backstop.

The NL champs mounted a serious threat in the bottom of the third, loading the bases with two down on an infield error and walks to Mike Demella and Petersen.

Sobieck reared back and escaped the jam by fanning the next batter on three pitches.

The Giants nicked Red Sox reliever Steve Arsenault for a pair of runs in the bottom of the fourth, closing the gap to 4-2.

Matt Antaya walked, took second on a wild pitch, and scored when Tim Dunning drilled a one-out double down the left field line.

Fitzpatrick bunted Dunning to third, and a bunt single by Mike Murphy rescued the second run.

Five-run fifth

The Sox broke it open by responding with five runs in the fifth, batting around and combining two hits and three walks.

Nick Branzetti and Arnold Ross walked to start the uprising. Mike Alberico laid down a sacrifice bunt, and when the throw to third was too late to get Branzetti the bases were loaded.

Charles Daher walked on four pitches to force home a run, Ross raced across on a wild pitch, Sobieck hammered a two-run double to the center field fence, and Rob Oppenheim belted his second two-bagger to the same spot to plate Sobieck.

The inning ended with a nice catch by Giants' left fielder Josh Prudden on a crisp line drive down the line by Steve Arsenault.

The Giants added their final run in the bottom of the fifth when Prudden singled, Petersen singled, Romano reached on a fielder's choice erasing Prudden at third, both players advanced on a passed ball, and Matt Antaya's popout to deep short rescued Petersen.

Mike Licata followed with a bunt single, but Sox' third baseman Arnold Ross ended the inning and saved at least one run by lunging to his right for a great stab of Tim Dunning's line drive.

Nick Branzetti reached safely for the fourth straight time when he was hit by a pitch in the Red Sox sixth, but the inning ended when Giants' center fielder Matt Antaya reached high to pull down Charles Daher's vicious line drive.

In the Giants' sixth Frank Fitzpatrick rapped a leadoff single and Mike Murphy walked, but Arsenault bore down to retire the next three batters as the Sox grabbed a 1-0 series lead.

Oppenheim, Sobieck and Adam Espinola paced the eight-hit winners' attack with two safeties apiece.

Rival shortstops Oppenheim (four putouts, one assist) and Scott Petersen (three assists) were defensive standouts.

Josh Prudden had two of the seven Giants' hits.

The pitching loss was the first of the season for Randy Romano, 6-1 overall.

Ten-year-old Bob Heitz gave up three hits in his three-innings of work, walking four and whiffing two.

Red Sox, 3-2 (Second Game)

Righthander Rob Oppenheim went the distance in the title-clincher, yielding eight hits while whiffing seven and walking one. He threw 91 pitches.

He breezed through the first three innings, facing just 10 batters, and then struggled home as the Giants drilled eight hits in the final three stanzas but left six runners stranded.

Righty Scott Petersen also pitched a solid game for the Giants, permitting six hits and striking out four in his five-inning stint. He also had early control problems and walked five.

The Town champs inched ahead 1-0 in the bottom of the first when Adam Espinola dropped a one-out bunt single, stole second, and scored when two pitches got past the catcher.

Petersen issued three consecutive walks to Oppenheim, Aaron Bellorado and Steve Arsenault after the bunt. Giants' catcher Frank Fitzpatrick nailed one runner trying to steal, however, and Petersen ended the inning by picking a runner off second on a designed play called from the bench.

In the Sox' third Adam Espinola drew a two-out walk, Oppenheim lined a single to left and both runners moved into scoring position on a throwing error.

Aaron Bellorado then hit a deep fly to right field that was tracked down by Tim Dunning.

The Giants took their only lead of the series with a pair of runs in the fourth.

Andover has four All-Star teams playing in tournament

By Rick Harrison

Four Andover Little League All-Star teams are playing opening round games in the annual District 14 Tournament this week.

Andover once again is represented by two All-Star teams in the Major League (11-12 years) division, one Junior 13-year-old team and a Senior (14-15 years) team.

This summer, for the first time, the entire district tournament in all three divisions will be double-elimination from beginning to end.

The Andover American Major League squad got off to a tough start, bowing to Chelmsford Lupien 4-2 at the Deymond Chandler Road field earlier this week.

The Americans were scheduled to play again Tuesday night against Lawrence Tower Hill in a loser's bracket game to stay alive.

The Andover National Major League crew opened Tuesday at Haverhill.

Both the Junior 13 and Senior 14-15 teams drew first round byes, and both will be in action tonight.

Both older Andover teams are facing the winner of an opening round game last night between Lowell Highland and Barbara Caldwell of Topsfield holds a picture of her daughter, Kathie, who is a quadriplegic following a stroke last spring. Glen Leite, who works with Mrs. Caldwell at Raytheon, roller skated around the Doherty Middle School track Friday and raised $4,500 to help the Caldells.

Raytheon man raises funds for stroke victim

Glen Leite raised more than $4,500 for a sick friend last Friday morning, July 3, by skating 30 miles on his roller blades at the track behind Doherty Middle School. Mr. Leite, 34, of Raynham and an employee at Raytheon Co.'s Missiles Systems Division plant on Lowell Street, skated for two hours and 50 minutes to raise funds for Kathie Caldwell, of Topsfield.

Ms. Caldwell suffered a stroke while at school at U-Mass, Amherst, last semester, and is now a quadriplegic. Mr. Leite works with Ms. Caldwell's mother, Barbara, at Raytheon.

The money will go toward renovations the Caldells have to make to their house to bring their daughter home.

Mr. Leite said he visited Ms. Caldwell Monday at the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Center in Woburn where she will be for at least another five weeks.

"She's able to move her right arm a little bit," Mr. Leite said. He said Ms. Caldwell moved her right leg and ate solid food, macaroni and cheese, Monday for the first time since suffering the stroke.

"She was in good spirits," Mr. Leite said.

Most of the money raised came from pledges from co-workers, Mr. Leite said. About $40 was collected from the 20-25 residents who stopped by the track to watch him skate Friday morning. Donations can still be made to the Kathie Caldwell Equipment Fund, c/o Family Bank, Topsfield 01983.

U-14 makes it to states, loses 2-0

The Andover Chargers' under-14 girls' soccer team battled to the State Tournament championship game before dropping a 2-0 decision to Burlington at the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

The locals, who outplayed and outshot the winners in the final, succumbed after two of their shots rang off the crossbar and Burlington booted home the winning and insurance goals in the final four minutes.

The Chargers, who won the Essex County League title to qualify for the States, finished the season with a 16-3-2 overall record.

Vanessa Blank was the team's top overall scorer with 12 goals and 13 assists, while Abby Harris was the leading goalscorer with 15 (and five assists).

Jen Murnane had nine goals and six assists, goaltender Meghan Lynch registered a 0.68 goals-against average and 10 shutouts, and other top players throughout the spring were Sue Cookson and Vanessa Scarbeaux.

Earlier in the double-elimination tournament the Chargers chalked up a trio of taunt 1-0 triumphs over Nashoba Valley, Wellesley and Whitman after losing their opener to Grafton.

Randi Spiegel netted the goal to beat Nashoba Valley, Abby Harris pocketed both game-winners against Wellesley and defending state champ Whitman, and Meghan Lynch notched all three shutouts in net.

Lou Pfeifle is the Chargers' head coach.

Gold takes Astros, 4-1; Kelmer pitches 2-hitter

By Rick Harrison

Dave Kelmer fired a complete-game two-hitter, and keyed a fourth-inning rally with a two-run single, as Andover Gold of the Suburban Pony League trimmed the Reading Astros 4-1 earlier this week at Washington Park in Reading.

Kelmer's effort pulled AG from a three-game tailspin, two of those losses tough ones to Methuen (8-7) and Lowell (9-6).

Gold, trailing 7-0 at one point, saw a strong late-game rally fall just short in the 8-7 loss to the Methuen Police.

Lowell used a pair of four-run uprisings in the second and fourth stanzas to offset another late-game rally by AG in the 9-6 game.

Those results left Gold at 2-3 in the league entering Tuesday night's game against Winthrop at Winthrop High.

AG hosts the same Reading Astros crew in a non-leaguer tomorrow night at Andover High (6 p.m.), Saturday the locals entertain North Reading at AHS (10 a.m.), and next Wednesday Gold journeys to Lynnfield for a 6 p.m. contest.

Andover Gold, 4-1

Dave Kelmer, 2-1 overall, was in complete control as he mastered the Astros with his two-hitter.

Kelmer fanned five and issued five walks.

All the scoring came in the fourth inning, with Gold jumping to a 4-0 lead in the top half of the stanza.

Tom Tanin singled, Rick Mendez singled, Paul Auffermann ripped an RBI double, Kelmer slapped his two-run single, Tom Boutureia reached on an error, and Mike Mano hammered a run-scoring double.

Dave Salafia then walked to load the bases with one out, but the next two Gold batters were retired.

The Astros notched their lone run in the bottom of the fourth, but Kelmer shut them down over the final three innings to preserve the victory.

Mendez and Auffermann finished the game with a double and single apiece, while other singles were added to the 10-hit assault by Salafia and Andy Henderson.

Defensive standouts were Dave Salafia, who gunned down a Reading runner at the plate in the first inning, catcher Jeff esenius who slapped on the tag, and shortstop Tom Tanin who had four assists.

Methuen, 8-7

Methuen, league champ in 1990 and a playoff finalist last summer, bolted to a seven run lead after scoring once in the first and three times in the fourth and fifth innings.

The Gold comeback started with four runs in the bottom of the fifth.

Dave Kelmer reached on an error, Tom Boutureia doubled, Jeff Hese-nus drew a two-out walk to load the bases, and consecutive two-run singles were laced by Tom Tanin and Rick Mendez.

Methuen added what proved to be the winning run in the top of the sixth, then held on for dear life as AG struck for three runs in the bottom of the seventh.

Andy Henderson launched the final bid with a single, Tanin singled, Mendez hammered a two-run double, and Pat Sharkey made it 8-7 with an RBI single to rescue Mendez.

The next batter also hit the ball sharply, but Methuen pulled off a crisp 4-6-3 double play to end the threat and the game.

Gold had three other serious bids that came up empty.

Tom Tanin belted a two-out triple in the first but was stranded, two runners were left aboard in the fourth after a pair of walks, and in the sixth Sharkey singled and Boutureia reached on an error before Methuen retired the side.

Tom Boutureia, first of four Gold hurlers, worked the first three-plus innings and took the loss. Dave Kelmer and Dave Salafia pitched one inning apiece, and Rick Mendez tossed the last two frames.

Tanin finished the game a perfect 3-for-3 and he also walked, reaching base four straight times, while Rick Mendez contributed two hits and four RBI, Pat Sharkey two hits and Brad Batchelder singled.

Lowell, 9-6

Tom Boutureia worked the first two innings on the hill, taking the loss, while Dave Kelmer pitched the next 1.1 frames and Dave Salafia finished up with 2.2 strong stanzas of relief.

Gold spotted new league entry Lowell Shedd a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, then tied it in the home half when Tom Tanin slapped a hustle double, took third on a wild pickoff throw, and scored when the subsequent throw from center field went wild.

Trailing 5-1 in the third, AG came back with two runs as Salafia singled, Jeff Hesenius drilled an RBI double, and a pair of wild pitches brought him around to score.

Down 9-3 in the bottom of the sixth, Gold's last bid came on another double by Hesenius, a walk to Tanin and a gargantuan three-run homer to right field by Mendez.

Hesenius finished the game with two doubles, while singles were contributed by Pat Sharkey, Dave Kelmer and Tom Boutureia.

Defensive standouts were second baseman Brad Batchelder and catcher Hesenius, who gunned down a would-be Lowell base-stealer.

4 All-Star teams go to district tourney

Tewksbury.

The Andover 13's are hosting their game at Andover High, while the Senior 14-15's travel to Hadley Field in Lowell.

All weekday games start at 5:45 p.m., and as the tourney progresses weekend games will start at either 1 p.m. or 5 p.m.

The District 14 Tournament will continue for about two weeks, and district champions will then advance to Bi-District action.

The State and Regional Tournaments follow in early and mid-August, and the final step is the Little League World Series late next month.

In 1988 Andover had the distinction of sending its National Major League All-Star team to the World Series in Williamsport, Pa., after the locals won 13 of 14 games en route to district, bi-district, state and regional championships.

Andover National finished sixth in the world (more than 17,000 teams started) that summer, losing its World Series opener to Spring, Texas 8-2 and winning one of three games at Williamsport.

Andover teams have dominated the District 14 Major League (11-12) Tournament in recent years, winning it six straight times.

The Nationals capped their three-year run (1986-88) with the World Series appearance, while the Americans enter the current tourney as three-time defending champs.

Last year Andover American romped to the title with five straight lopsided victories, outscoring their victims 64-13 in those games. The final was an 18-1 mismatch against Lawrence Prospect Hill. The Americans posted a .403 team batting average and 1.20 staff earned run average in the districts.

Andover American then lost to Arlington National 6-4 in single-elimination Bi-District play.

The Andover National Major All-Stars were 1-1 last summer, edging Lowell Callery 4-3 before being ousted by Chelmsford Pitts 6-5.

The existence of the Andover Blue and Gold teams in the Suburban Pony League, and prior to that the Greater Lawrence Babe Ruth League, has always made it difficult for the Andover Senior 14-15 All-Stars to do well in the District 14 Tournament.

Last summer was an exception, however, as Andover placed third and won three games before being ousted by Billerica National in the semifinals.

The Andover 13's had a short tournament stay in '91, bowing out after losses to Lowell Callery and Billerica.

National roster

The Andover National Major All-Star team includes Matt Antaya, Frank Fitzpatrick, Pat Moran, Scott Petersen, Josh Prudden and Randy Romano of the champion Giants, Dave Chapin, James Tammara and Tyler Volpe (Mets), Rick Johnson and Brendan Long (Cubs), Dave Cordima (Braves), Craig Elworthy (Cardinals) and Peter Hill (Pirates).

The manager is Rick Petersen (Giants) and the coaches Vinnie Camelio and Doug Chapin.

American roster

The Andover American Major Leaguers are Aaron Belloardo, Adam Espinola and Rob Oppenheim of the Town champion Red Sox, Scott Ciruso and Dan Lombard (Orioles), Jeff Cutler and Pete Maguire (Twins), Jeff Danis and Doug Henderson (Indians), Ryan Hanigan and Matt Mahoney (Yankees), Jeff Sandison and Scott Shainker (White Sox).

Jim Sandison (White Sox) is the manager and Jim Oppenheim (Red Sox) the coach. Kevin Rourke and Mike Lombard are assisting at practices.

Junior 13 roster

The Andover Junior 13-year-old All-Stars are Pat Annese, Rob Busby, Shaun Connors, Ryan Daniels, Brian King, Albert and

Robert Kwon, Greg LaFlamme, Jason Monarca, Marc O'Sullivan, Jeremy Schofield, Joe Sciolla, Mark Tropeano and Greg Wojtkun.

Senior 14-15 roster

Andy Blake is the Senior manager.

Tomorrow's deadline for AHS baseball banquet

The Andover High State Division 1 champion baseball team will be feted next Tuesday, July 14, at the Andover Marriott.

The banquet, honoring the first team in 26 years to win back-to-back state titles in Division 1, will kick off at 7 p.m.

Tickets are $20 each for the general public and can be purchased from Bob or Mary Sheehan, 7 Cherrywood Circle (High Plain Road to Golden Oaks).

The deadline for buying tickets is July 10. For information call Bob or Mary Sheehan at 794-8410.

Red Sox are town champions

Josh Prudden spoiled Oppenheim's no-hitter with a lead-off single to left, and he raced all the way to third on a two-base throwing error. Petersen then lofted a sacrifice fly to right field, tying the game as Prudden tagged and scored.

Randy Romano followed with a bloop single to left, eventually moved to third on an infield error, and scored the second run on Andy Gossard's two-out single to center field.

Mike Murphy walked, Frank Fitzpatrick singled to center loading the bases, and then Oppenheim got tough with a clutch strikeout to end the inning.

Title-clinching rally

The Red Sox bounced right back with their final two runs in the bottom of the stanza.

Nick Branzetti drew a one-out walk, Arnold Ross dumped a single down the right field line sending Branzetti to third, and Mike Alberico tied the game with an RBI single to left.

"Alberico's hit was probably the biggest key," said Manager Oppenheim. "Mike really improved during the season."

Charles Daher, 10, then lashed a hard line drive to right, and when the ball glanced off the fielder's glove both Ross and Alberico scampered home.

The second run was disallowed, however, because the overly-enthusiastic Sox' third base coach touched the player as he headed home.

That contact is illegal, being interpreted as "aiding the runner," so the lead went back to 3-2.

In the Giants' fifth Pat Moran legged out an infield hit to start the inning. Josh Prudden's pop-up to first base was misplayed, allowing him to reach safely, but interference was called on the runner as he apparently collided with the Sox' fielder trying to make the play. Scott Petersen followed with a hustle single to second base, beating the throw with a slide into the first base bag.

That set the stage for Chuck Sobieck's key double play, as he scooped a hard hit grounder up the middle, stepped on second and fired to Branzetti at first to complete the clutch twin-killing.

The Red Sox made a serious bid to add some insurance runs in the bottom of the fifth, Oppenheim drilling a one-out single to center and Aaron Bellorado following with a 195-foot ground-rule double that hopped over the left field fence.

Steve Arsenault lashed a shot down the left field line, but the Giants' Andy Gossard was perfectly positioned to make the catch.

In the sixth Gossard stroked a one-out single and moved to second on an error.

Frank Fitzpatrick kept it alive with a two-out, two-strike single to center, Gossard forced to hold at third base, and then Fitzpatrick stole second.

Oppenheim ended the drama by striking out the next batter on a 2-2 fastball.

Defensively, Oppenheim helped himself with four assists from the mound and short-stop Josh Prudden played well for the Giants.

At the end the jubilant Sox' players doused Manager Jim Oppenheim and Coach Kevin Rourke with water and gatorade.

Superb work . . .

Righthander Mike Kinnon (2-0) pitched five strong innings for the third time this summer, scattering four hits while fanning three and walking one. The run he allowed was unearned.

Todd Murray added a spectacular two-inning relief stint, facing the minimum six batters and striking out five.

Andover did all its damage in the first four innings at Lynn's Fraser Field.

In the top of the first Mike Sullivan was issued a one-out walk, stole second, moved to third on Bob Sheehan's infield out, and raced across on a wild pitch.

A five-run second stanza blew the game wide open.

Mike Daley singled, Matt Daniels and Chris Lembo reached on errors to load the bases, three runs crossed on Kinnon's infield out and a subsequent throwing error, Sullivan walked, Sheehan clouted an RBI triple to right field, and Justin Hesenius drilled a rocket shot single to left rescuing Sheehan.

Two more walks loaded the bases before a strikeout ended the rally.

The lead blossomed to 8-0 in the third when Chris Lembo tripled, Kinnon lashed an RBI single, and Jim Landry later plated Kinnon with a suicide squeeze bunt.

Chris Lembo's run-scoring single chased Mike Daley across with the final run in the fourth.

Lynn Post 345 produced its lone run in the bottom of the fifth.

Post 8 managed just six hits in the contest, Chris Lembo's 2-for-3 leading the way.

Andover, 6-0

Post 8 jumped on Swampscott starter Jay Doherty for three runs in the top of the first, giving Jim Hanning more than he needed.

Walks to Jim Landry, Mike

Sullivan and an error on Gus Quattlebaum's grounder loaded the bases with no one out. Justin Hesenius ripped a two-run single to left, and when Brian Flanagan's grounder was booted the third run crossed.

In the second Hanning, who had belted a double against the Connecticut All-Stars in his only recent plate appearance, hammered a triple up the right center field gap. Sullivan rescued him with a one-out single to center to make it 4-0.

Post 8 added a single run in the fifth when Hesenius belted a two-out double to right and scored on Mike Daley's opposite-field single.

The final run came in the sixth, after Chris Lembo clouted a triple and Jim Landry drew a one-out walk. The pair worked a double steal, and when the shortstop's return throw to the plate went wild Lembo scored.

Hesenius led the eight-hit assault with 3-for-4, while Flanagan also contributed a safety that didn't figure in the scoring.

Andover third baseman Chris Lembo made a nice stop and threw the runner out in the fifth to pace the defense.

Looking for an IRS refund check?

Wondering where your income tax refund is? Has it been eight weeks since you filed your return or four weeks if it was filed electronically?

If you answered yes to either of these questions, you can call IRS' Tele-Tax System (Automated Refund Information) at 1-800-829-4477. To get the status of your refund, have your social security number, filing status and exact amount of refund ready. The Tele-Tax system is updated weekly.

Refund delays may be caused by a variety of reasons. The most common is the social security number and name mismatch. The last name and social security number of the taxpayer must be the same as on last year's return or the return will be delayed a minimum of one week for rematching.

If your return required rematching, you will be sent a notice of verification, which must be filled out and returned to the service center before the refund can be released. Once the information is received, the IRS will process it and mail your check.

Patty Barrett . . .

By Lisa Boudreau

Even as a child, Patty Barrett knew she wanted to be a teacher. When she was barely old enough to go to school, she would accompany her aunt, Catherine Barrett, principal of the former Central Elementary, to school before classes started in the fall to help set up the classrooms.

"She'd always let me bring a friend and we'd help wash the chalkboards and make sure each one had an eraser. I thought it was fun to play teacher," she said.

Ms. Barrett, 33, has done more than play school. She has won numerous awards for her efforts as a health educator during the past 10 years in the Andover schools. She recently was selected by a panel of Boston area educators as a "Terrific Teacher Making a Difference."

The award recognizes outstanding commitment to teaching and enhancing student self-esteem. Ms. Barrett also received a $500 grant to develop self-esteem enhancement ideas to be expanded upon at a workshop with other grant winners in the fall. Last year she was named a runnerup in the national Christa McAuliffe Fellowship Award.

For the McAuliffe Fellowship application, Ms. Barrett wrote one of the greatest rewards she's had as a teacher is hearing students say they "look forward to and enjoy going to her classes and they are sorry when the course is over."

"Having a job where I could do what I really wanted to do, and that was work with kids, and be able to make a living at it seemed like an ideal match," Ms. Barrett said.

Originally, she wanted to teach physical education to children with developmental problems. After she graduated college, Ms. Barrett was a permanent substitute at AHS where she taught physical education and health.

"At that time I was still hoping to get a full-time PE job," she said.

"But what we were teaching in the health classes had the kids so involved and willing to participate in discussions I found I was getting so much job satisfaction. I loved it," she said.

The following year she was transferred to West Middle School where she taught health and in the fall of 1983 she went back to the high school where she has been since. Up until two years ago Ms. Barrett also coached the girls' swim team at AHS. While coaching the team, it won Merrimack Valley championships in '81-'84, and in '87, and placed second in the state Northern Sectional finals in '83 and '87.

Ms. Barrett said she misses the relationships she formed with the swimmers and the challenges of coaching, but she's grateful for the extra free time she has now that she isn't coaching.

Trends in education are taking teachers away from the traditional roles as lecturers and students reciting what they learned. Today teachers are becoming coaches and interacting with and motivating students, she said. Many of the methods Ms. Barrett used as a coach she uses as a teacher.

"I don't think I had a health education-class when I was in high school," Ms. Barrett said.

"We had something called family living and I can remember sewing classes and cooking classes, but that was about it," she said.

Ms. Barrett believes teen-agers today live with a lot more pressure than she did when she was a student at Andover High. Today, kids face decisions she and her friends never did, academically, athletically and socially.

Health education curriculum today at AHS attempts to address issues teens face - mental health, suicide, eating disorders, self esteem, nutrition and fitness, substance abuse, sexually transmitted diseases and AIDS.

"If I were a teen-ager today I'd be scared to death of AIDS. Most of the kids I talk to today say they are worried about it, too," she said.

Groups such as Students Against Drunk Driving, which began in 1981 at Andover High, have made a difference, said Ms. Barrett. But there always will be pressure for teens to drink, she said.

"Some kids I talk to say there is a lot of peer pressure to drink and others, those who have a lot of self-confidence and self-esteem, say there isn't peer pressure, just self-pressure and they can walk away from it," Ms. Barrett said.

"That's why we have to help kids develop. We have to give them the support and the confidence in themselves to stand by their values. Ultimately, they are going to be respected for standing up for what they believe in," she said.

Mentors and role models

Besides her aunt, who originally influenced her to pursue a career in teaching, Ms. Barrett said she also looks up to AHS Principal Tim Thomas, who was her teacher at Andover High School. Five years ago when Mr. Thomas became assistant principal, Ms. Barrett said he brought with him to the job a revitalized attitude that was infectious. Now that he is principal of the school that same energy is still with him, she said.

Ms. Barrett also said she is pleased with the direction in which health program director Brenda O'Brien has led the department. Next year the curriculum in the elementary grades will be expanded and Ms. Barrett believes this is good news because it will better prepare the students when they face some of the tough issues of the '90s when they are teen-agers.

Short- and long-term goals

In the near future Ms. Barrett said she is looking forward to expanding some of the topics elementary school children are learning in their health classes. This summer she will work with other Andover health classes to plan next school year's health units.

Eventually she would like to use her training in administration and move into that area of the education field. Ideally she would like to become a director of health education, but she said that is a long way off.

"Right now I still love being in the classroom and working with the students. I'd miss that too much," she said.

DOWN THE YEARS

Editor's note: The following is a look back at 100 years of Andover's summertime history, compiled by Townsman reporter Lisa Boudreau. Photos are courtesy of the Andover Historical Society.

July 1892

The department of Freshman English at Wellesley College during the coming year will be under the charge of Prof. G. R. Carpenter of the Institute of Technology, a son of Rev. C.C. Carpenter of this town.

A cupola is being put on the Nathaniel Peters barn in North Andover by Hardy & Cole.

Hardy & Cole have a gang of men repairing the church parsonage at Tewksbury.

Willie Brown, son of William G. Brown, the butcher, met with a severe accident Wednesday. He started to climb a ladder that was placed against the door in his barn, when suddenly the ladder slipped at the bottom and he fell heavily with it to the floor. He must have struck his chin, for the lower jaw bone was broken. It was a very painful injury, but he is now as comfortable as can be expected.

Miss Ella Bodwell, one of the Andover Press compositors, is ill at her home on Central Street.

The S. K. Johnson residence on Main Street is being raised and will be set farther back from the street. G.H. Wilson is moving it.

Horace Craighead and family have left town and gone to Mamaroneck, N.Y., to reside. This is a pleasant suburb of New York City.

Prof. Wm. Tracey, formerly of Lansing Agricultural College and well known as the son of the late Dr. Tracey, was in town a few days ago to enjoy our Andover trees after a long sojourn in the Michigan meadows.

George Ripley and family are spending the month of July at Westchop, Martha's Vineyard.

E. Kendall Jenkins and family have gone to their summer home at Juniper Point, Salem.

Prof. H. C. Biewirth has left town to spend his vacation in Germany.

Prof. W. B. Graves and family will be quartered at the Tahawns House, Keene Valley, N.Y., until Sept. 1.

Several inquiries have been made in regard to the Fourth of July celebration in Lawrence. As near as can be learned, the program will be as follows: 4 a.m., antiques and horrors; 8 o'clock, races on the common; 10, civic and trades procession; 1 p.m., regatta on the river, and fireworks in the evening.

From no institution does there go forth at this season a more royally equipped body of women than those who graduated last week from Mount Holyoke College. Mrs. E. S. Mead, the new president, has proved her rare ability to preside over the 300 students gathered here, and already those applying for admission next autumn exceed the capacity of the college. The presence of Prof. Edward A. Park, D.D., of Andover through the week gave great delight.

Judge Charles P. Peabody of New York is visiting at the residence of the Misses Peabody on Main Street.

A large number of Phillips Academy students are taking the college examinations, which are being held here and which close tomorrow.

The new ten-seated cars on the street railway attract a great deal of attention. One was run on the Andover line last Sunday.

Miss Minerva Dudley, teacher of the primary department at the South Center School, has returned to her home in Iowa.

Miss Annie Robinson, drawing teacher in our schools, returned to her home in Marion last Saturday. She was accompanied by Miss Edith McLawlin.

In the honor list for Yale College graduates is noticed the assignment of a second dispute to H. S. Graves, son of Prof. W. B. Graves.

The July number of the American Missionary acknowledges from Andover the following sums: Chapel Church and congregation, $80; West Church, $35; "a friend" for Alaska missions, $5.

Isaac H. Clark is in town enjoying a vacation.

The usual places in town began disposing of fireworks this morning.

Miss Florence Locke of the Marlboro High School has returned home for her vacation.

The honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred on Rev. Cecil F.P. Bancroft, principal of Phillips Academy, this week by Yale College.

E. B. Blanchard of the last graduating class at the Seminary, was ordained at the Congregational Church in Thorndike, Mass., Wednesday and has been engaged to preach there for the coming year.

The President and Fellows of Harvard College have appointed as an instructor in German for 1892-93, Heinrich Conrad Bierwith, A.B., who has been teacher in Phillips Academy.

Among those who received the degree and diplomas at Harvard College Wednesday for doctors of Dental Medicine was Albert E. Hulme of this town.

Amherst College has conferred the honorary degree of M.A. on Edward Fairbank of this town.

"Let's Get Personal."

"Shopping for furniture doesn't have to be cold and impersonal. When our customers come into the Furniture Barn looking for a new lamp, a chair or a whole roomful of new furniture, we want them to know that we're here to offer friendly, personal design help - not pressure. We understand the emotional side to decorating. It can be very confusing and intimidating. 'Will it really look right with our old furniture?', 'What will my friends think of it?', and so on. Decorating mistakes can be costly, too, so we'll do everything we can to make sure you get just exactly what you want, at the best possible value. Our first job is to listen, and to really understand what you're looking for. Then, working within your budget, we'll help you to pull it all together in a way that you'll be happy with for years to come."

As Always, Our Goal Is 100% Customer Satisfaction.

Miss Mary E. Carter of Ann Arbor, Mich., is at home visiting her mother, Mrs. R.A. Carter.

E. B. Hutchinson and family are registered at the Miles Standish House, South Duxbury, Mass.

Mrs. J. E. Drinkwater has gone to Ellsworth, Me., for the summer.

Rev. W. B. Allis will labor during the summer at the Andover House in Boston.

The Andover Republican Club has begun to show signs of activity and a meeting has been called for this evening in the rooms over Valpey's market at 7:30. Business of importance is to be transacted and a large attendance is desired.

Phillips Andover men assume places of great importance in Yale athletics especially. The latest is that Laurie Bliss has been elected captain of the Yale baseball team for '93. He is best known for his phenomenal work on the football team, but he has also played baseball with great success last year at third base and this year in right field. He, as well as Capt. McCormick of the Yale football eleven, is well known to Andover people.

Board of Public Works prepares for Horribles Parade, year unknown.

Prof. and Mrs. S. M. Downs have left town for their summer residence at Edgecliff, Southwest Harbor, Me.

John Burnham, of Springfield, is visiting at Mrs. N. F. Abbott's. John Noyes, a brother of Mrs. Abbott, has also been here.

Quite a number of young people attended the reception at the Johnson

High School last evening at North Andover. The Andover Orchestra furnished the music.

There will be another band concert in the Square next Wednesday night.

H. H. Wentworth of the Seminary graduating class was ordained pastor at Goffstown, N.H., last week, Prof. Geo. F. Moore preaching the sermon.

On Monday last, Misses Anne, Alice and Charlotte Colby went to Abbott, Me., for the summer, under escort of their uncle, G. M. Fogg, who has been visiting in Andover for several days. Mrs. Colby and Master Seabury were intending to go at the same time, but their departure was delayed by reason of the sudden illness of the latter, which however is not of serious nature. They will probably leave in about three weeks. Mr. Colby will remain at his home on Salem St. until the middle of August, when he expects to join his family and go camping out at Moosehead lake.

July 1900

On and after July 5, the grocery stores in town will close every evening in the week except Saturday at 6 o'clock.

Miss Alice McTernan and Miss Kitty Walsh spent the 4th of July in Somerville.

Samuel Newman visited relatives in Salem for several days this week.

An alleged illegal distilling plant hidden among pine trees on the old Elliot estate off River road in West Andover was raided last Saturday by Government agents.

The seizure was directed by Sherwood Anderson, head of the New England division of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and agents from the Boston office. The plant, said to be operated by Lawrence and West Andover men, had, according to officials, been under observation for some time.

Two large stills, mash, and other paraphernalia were confiscated, constituting the largest plant raided in this vicinity since repeal, the officials stated. The agents said the plant contained much elaborate equipment with gasoline pumps and pipe lines leading to the Merrimack river.

Edward Morrissey, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Morrissey of Temple place, was slightly injured last Monday afternoon when he was struck by a bus while crossing North Main street near the Tye Rubber company in order to board the truck carrying children to Poms pond. H. Arnold Bodwell of Morton street passed away Saturday morning at the Notre Dame hospital, Manchester, N.H., after having been seriously injured the afternoon before when his automobile left the Daniel Webster highway near the Bedford-Merrimack, N.H., line, striking a pole, two trees and crashing into a cement culvert.

He was en route to a convention of the Connecticut General Life Insurance company, of which he was a general agent.

Death was due to a fracture of the spinal cord. He also sustained a severe gash that almost severed his right leg below the knee. Ewart Horne of Brookline, making the trip with Mr. Bodwell, was also severely injured, but he is expected to recover. His most severe injury was a fractured right foot, and he also complained of back injuries.

They were both hurled from the machine. Neither was able to tell anything of the circumstance surrounding the accident.

Arthur Slane, 33, who up to a month ago lived on Cuba street, met his death by drowning last Sunday afternoon in the Merrimack river, Lawrence. According to reports he was wading in the river when he stepped into a deep hole. He was able to swim around for about 15 to 20 feet but then disappeared. His body was not recovered until about ten Monday morning.

July 1950

Building activity in Andover is continuing at a brisk pace according to the records of Ralph W. Coleman, building inspector, who has issued permits during June for new construction and alterations at an estimated cost of $118,000.

Of this amount, $94,500 was for new buildings, $6,900 for garages, $3,100 for miscellaneous building and $13,450 for additions and alterations.

Division) is the name of this season's designated group of volunteer lifesavers of Pomp's pond municipal bathing beach.

The group is made up largely of younger lifesaving enthusiasts who have passed their junior Red Cross lifesaving tests.

The continued dry spell, now in its seventh week, has had little effect to date on Haggetts pond, Supt. Edward R. Lawson of the board of public works, states.

Although pumping for the past week has been about 2 1/2 million gallons daily, more than a million gallons above average, no restrictions on the drawing of water have been put into effect.

If the dry spell continues, Supt. Lawson said it is possible that the department may have to request curtailment of lawn sprinkling. Farmers in West Andover draw heavily on the town system to irrigate their garden and unless rain comes soon, the continued heavy drain on the water supply may show up at the pond.

Andover's playground will present a lively picture Friday when on the Central, Indian Ridge, Shawsheen and Ballardvale areas the youngsters will bring out their pets for the annual pet show. The West Center will hold a hat show at this same time.

the old spirit is still percolating.

Seventy-four-year-old John L. Noyes was busy at work in the field "tedding" hay. His two daughters, May and Mina, were loading the hay on to a wagon. Since there was but one horse, he had been unhitched from the wagon and was plodding through the fields under the direction of Mr. Noyes.

There was nothing unusual to the Noyes family about this arduous labor. John L. had been born on the farm as had his entire family. His father before him had battled with the land and lived from its fruits.

Today, the Noyes Family operate a successful farm. They live from the products of the farm and market considerable of the vegetables and fruit which is more abundant than their personal needs demand.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. O'Hagans, 1 Baker lane, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Monday at St. Augustine's Church. Following the Mass, a catered dinner was served at the Knights of Columbus Hall with relatives and the immediate family in attendance.

Two bus trips daily to Pomp's Pond are scheduled, according to Supervisor Donald D. Dunn.

The morning trip begins at the West Parish Playground at 9:30, and at five-minute intervals, the stops are at Shawsheen Square, Andover Square, Salem st. and Highland rd., South Main st. and Ballardvale rd., Ballardvale Playground and Pomp's. The bus leaves the pond at 11:45, reversing the route taken earlier in the day.

Special playground activities are again scheduled this week, as enrollment on the town's five playgrounds continue to grow.

Last week's special town meeting gave quick approval to the country club in West Andover, and to the payment of vacation wages in advance for town employees.

Miss Joan-Ellen Simeone, a member of this year's graduating class at Andover High, has been accepted at Lowell State Teachers's College, where she will major in music. She is the daughter of Mrs. Paul Simeone, 13 Stratford rd., and the late Mr. Simeone.

The Christ Church rectory on the right is the only building existing along this section of Central Street. Fire took the wooden Christ Church in 1886. Construction of the new hewn stone church caused the relocation of the tavern called the Traveller's Rest, later Mark Newman's house, to School Street, possibly number 79. Age and deterioration led to the end of the trees and fences.
